Health cess proceeds to be shared with states

Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman on Thursday said the proposed Health and National Security Cess will not be levied on essential commodities and the proceeds will be shared with states under specific health schemes. "By levying the cess, we expect that it would act as a deterrent for pan masala consumption. Part of the revenue from this cess will be shared with states through health awareness schemes," she said.

PLAN TO ACQUIRE 1,777 ACRES FOR SEZ IN DEVANAHALLI DROPPED

After farmers' protests, entire land parcel declared a permanent agriculture zone

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka cabinet on Thursday approved dropping of the plan to acquire 1,777 acres 2.5 guntas of land in 13 villages of Channarayapatna hobli in Devanahalli taluk, and declare the entire stretch as a 'Permanent Special Agriculture Zone' and a green zone. The KIADB was to acquire the land and had issued a notification to this effect, but was bogged down by farmers' protests.

"The decision was taken after holding consultations with farmers, departments of large and medium scale industries, infrastructure development, and law and finance," Law and Parliamentary Affairs Minister HK Patil said. The notification issued to acquire land under Section 4 of the KIADB Act will be withdrawn, he clarified.

The commerce and industries department had planned to develop the Aerospace Development Park Phase-II in Devanahalli as a park with state-of-the-art facilities, including a Special Economic Zone for manufacturing, research, development and testing. It is home to Boeing, Airbus, HAL, Wipro and other major global companies.

The cabinet has also given administrative approval for the construction of a three-lane twin tunnel in the cut & cover model, and an elevated corridor with up and down ramp, at an estimated cost of Rs 2,215 crore, to manage local vehicular traffic up to Mehkri Circle at Hebbal Junction. It has given post facto approval with a revised expenditure of Rs 100.70 crore, from Rs 90 crore, after the Global Investors' Meet – Invest Karnataka 2025' held at Palace Grounds.

BCC farmers to BDA: Drop excessive land acquisition

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

WHILE the high court is hearing matters related to the Peripheral Ring Road (PRR) project, now dubbed the Bengaluru Business Corridor (BBC), affected landowners have strongly condemned the Bangalore Development Authority (BDA) for pushing "misleading" information to the courts, media and the general public.

PRR Raitha Haagu Niveshanadarara Sangha said this systematic media campaign is seen as a desperate attempt to influence the judicial process and mask the project's profound legal and procedural failures.

Noting that the BDA's scheme is fundamentally flawed and legally lapsed, the forum said the original 2007 final notification is legally dead and the recent 2022 actions are an illegal attempt to revive a defunct project. "The BDA is attempting to acquire land far in excess of what the project legitimately requires, thereby inflating the project cost, which will be borne by the public. We demand the immediate removal of at least 426 acres (170 acres for toll booths and 256 acres for BMTC/truck terminals) of unnecessary land from the acquisition," the forum urged.

Condemning the BDA's "ignorance and non-compliance" with the high court's directives, the forum noted that the authority had failed to adhere to the recent November 27 high court order explicitly directing officials not to interfere with or harass farmers until the case is decided. "Any attempt to survey or coerce consent is a direct abuse of power," it added.

GBA chief inspects K-100, tells officials to keep sewage out of waterway

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

GREATER Bengaluru Authority (GBA) Chief Commissioner M Maheshwar Rao instructed officials to formulate a comprehensive plan to completely prevent sewage from entering the K-100 waterway that runs along KR Market to Bellandur tank, under the Koramangala-Challaghatta Valley network.

Speaking after inspecting the 'K-100 Civil Waterway' from Anepalya Junction to Shanthinagar Bus Stand, he said sewage is under control in most parts of the K-100 route. "Bengaluru Water Supply and Sewerage Water Board (BWSSB) should conduct a survey of the areas that are not yet under control, and submit a comprehensive remedial plan immediately," he said.

The officials informed the Commissioner that a 5MLD capacity wastewater treatment plant (STP) has been constructed near Kumbalgodu to purify water flowing in the rajakaluve. The plant treats sewage water and releases treated water into the rajakaluve in the K-100 waterway on a long-term basis. Biological methods and nature-based remedial measures have been taken to treat the remaining sewage.

"To filter the sewage, concrete rings have been installed in the middle of the waterway, and saplings that absorb sewage have been planted in them. These saplings will absorb waste materials and release clean water," Rao stated.

KIA GETS LIFTER TO ASSIST IMMOBILE FLYERS

Kempegowda International Airport (KIA) introduced India's first Eagle Passenger Lifter on Thursday. The lifter will assist people with disabilities who are completely immobile from head to toe: patients who otherwise require three to four people at a time to lift the passenger from the wheelchair to the aircraft seat. The equipment, which consists of a metal frame and a sling, assists with boarding, deplaning or intra-terminal movement. It was donated by Dr Ajaikumar, whose late son Adarsh suffered from Duchenne Muscular Dystrophy, a condition which rendered him immobile and often prevented him from flying at all due to the lack of such a facility at most airports. "The contribution is deeply personal for us. During our travels, Adarsh endured great discomfort due to the lack of appropriate support equipment. Yet, he chose to turn that pain into purpose. We hope this becomes a model that airports across India can adopt," said Dr Ajaikumar. ENS

Mess continues as 99 IndiGo flights cancelled at KIA

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

AT least 99 IndiGo flights, including 54 arrivals and 45 departures, were cancelled at Kempegowda International Airport (KIA) on Thursday, leaving hundreds of flyers frustrated. The Ministry of Civil Aviation (MOCA) website showed a dismal 19.7% on-time percentage score for the airline.

Scores of passengers remained agitated and confused at KIA on Thursday, a situation that was only compounded by the lack of transparency on the part of the airline. "I purchased 110 tickets for a flight due to depart on Friday morning; with no updates from the airline, I do not know what to do or expect," rued a passenger at KIA on Thursday. He has booked such a large number of tickets as his son's wedding is scheduled to be held in Bhubaneswar.

Many took to social media platforms to vent their ire with the situation not showing any signs of imminent improvement. "We've been stuck at Bangalore airport all day for IndiGo flight to Delhi — now looks like it will be over 5 hours delayed — and there has been zero official communication from IndiGo. At the very least, passengers deserve timely updates when delays are this long (sic)," reads a post uploaded on Thursday evening.

According to insiders from the airport, which a statement from IndiGo corroborated on Wednesday as well, the catastrophic situation could be largely attributed to a failure in implementing the new Flight Duty Time Limit (FDTL) rules, which had been mandated by the Directorate General of Civil Aviation way back in January 2024. The FDTL rules ensure that pilots have limited flying hours, so as to not induce fatigue.

Months of neglect from the airline and outcry from pilots led to crew shortage, which led to the situation at hand, it is said.

Captain Sam Thomas, president of Airline Pilots' Association (ALPA) of India, came down heavily on the lack of management by airlines. "Despite sufficient time being accorded (to implement the FDTL rules), most airlines started preparing rather late, failing to properly adjust crew rosters 15 days in advance as required." The statement also alleges that the delays could be an "arm-twisting" tactic against the regulator (DGCA) to seek further sanctions towards postponement of implementation, or even revoking, of the FDTL rules.

Group Captain Shubhanshu Shukla takes a selfie with St Philomena students

Soon an Indian will be on the Moon, predicts Shubhanshu

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

IT took 41 years for an Indian to go back into space and return, after Group Captain Rakesh Sharma did so in 1984. But now it will not take that long. Very soon, an Indian will go to space and the Moon, and return safely in an Indian-made launch vehicle and satellite, Gaganyatri and Group Captain Shubhanshu Shukla said here on Thursday.

Shukla was participating in Science Talk-2025 -- Spectra, on the theme 'Astronaut Has Landed: Exploring New Horizons and Inspiring Students to Blast off to Success', organised by St Philomena's Public School, Sarjapur, Bengaluru. He also interacted with students of Grade 9-12. "I didn't know about being an astronaut when I was growing up, and had never thought I would become one. When the first Indian went to space in 1984, I was not even born. I was fascinated when I heard of it," he said. He recollected how he had initially not intended to join the armed forces. "One of my friend was unable to apply and I filled the form that he had left on the classroom desk. It so happened that I got selected to the National Defence Academy and became a fighter pilot," he said, adding that after that it was a series of steps that brought him to this place.

He said he was excited on hearing the PM's announcement in 2018 that soon Indians will go into space, and in 2019 when selections started. "I was in such a place in 2019 that I could apply, and from there my journey as an astronaut started," he said.

05th December : Cold Moon Afterparty The Cold Moon afterparty features warm drinks and the sort of giddy social fun that happens when people would rather linger in company than face the chill outside. Whatever is happening beyond the walls of a gathering can feel very far away when the fire of connection burns brighter than anything the weather can do.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20) Don't get so concerned with doing the right thing that it blocks you from doing the interesting thing, the thing you want to do or the thing you've never done. You'll never be in quite this situation again. You may as well play it like only you can.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 - May 20) Here comes a challenge that seems custom-made for you. You'll be so into it, you may even raise the stakes to make things more interesting. It's not about who wins the game when it's your favorite game to play.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 21) Real trust is as attractive as disloyalty is unattractive. It can take a lot of effort to be true to your word. You'll go to great lengths to deliver as promised. Expect the same standard from others.

CANCER (June 22 - July 22) Your contributions to a project will be considerable, though it's nothing flashy in the delivery. Simple acts of cooperation are what keep production flowing. You influence by just showing up ready to work.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22) To feel life's poetry, you need a big heart and a wide range of experience. Thinking and feeling deeply is a gift, even when it hurts. The same depth that aches also lets you love and create fully.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22) You've been an emotional barista lately, serving comfort, pep and reassurance on demand. Slip yourself a refill. A single kind thought toward yourself changes the flavor of your whole day.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 23) Tension can be a source of beauty. For instance, the tension of a guitar string is necessary for melodious expression. The strain you feel now may be tuning you -- aligning effort and purpose so something harmonious can emerge.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 21) Cut the static out of a relationship. Speak from the heart. You shouldn't have to explain too much, just tell the truth. You'll be understood, if not now, then in time. The important thing is to clear the air.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21) You've had help with a project along the way, but today it's all you. Your effort, your instincts, your follow-through -- these are what's bringing it home. Let the satisfaction sink in. You deserve to feel good about this.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19) People will work out their differences in their own way. It's very likely that your interference isn't necessary, so you can relax. Sometimes getting involved only makes things more dramatic than they need to be.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18) You're feeling emotionally full. The love, friendship and connection flow easily. You're around good people, and your natural warmth multiplies in their company. It's a day to enjoy togetherness and affection without effort.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - Mar 20) You're gathering new information and asking great questions, and you'll be around people who really do know what they are talking about. You absorb all you can, and whatever doesn't apply now could be helpful to you later.

Red-carpet welcome

IN RARE GESTURE, MODI RECEIVES PUTIN AT AIRPORT

JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi stood on the tarmac of Delhi's Palam airport on Thursday evening greeting Russian President Vladimir Putin with a warm hug and a rare personal welcome in an unmistakable signal of the weight India attaches to its relationship with Russia. Traditional dancers swayed, cameras flashed and the red carpet stretched long as the two leaders slipped into the same car, echoing their drive together just three months ago after the SCO summit in Tianjin, China.

Soon after Putin's touchdown in Delhi, Modi hosted him for a private dinner mirroring the hospitality the Russian leader extended to him in Moscow last year. "Delighted to welcome my friend, President Putin to India. Looking forward to our interactions later this evening and tomorrow. India-Russia friendship is a time tested one that has greatly benefitted our people," Modi said in a post on X, shared in both English and Russian.

Their conversation on Thursday would set the tone for the 23rd India-Russia annual summit on Friday, a meeting watched closely in Western capitals as both nations navigate a tense global climate amid efforts to bring a halt to the war in Ukraine.

On Friday morning, Putin will receive a ceremonial welcome at Rashtrapati Bhavan before laying a wreath at Rajghat and heading to Hyderabad House for formal talks over a working lunch.

Defence cooperation will dominate the talks and both sides are expected to unravel a set of agreements and blueprint for economic cooperation. Hours before Putin landed, the two countries' defence ministers held wide-ranging talks on India's plans to procure additional S-400 missiles that proved decisive during Operation Sindoor and to explore further military hardware, including the Su-57 fifth-generation fighter jet. Agreements on logistics support and the movement of Indian workers to Russia are also expected to be sealed.

Trade and energy will feature prominently as India seeks to address a ballooning deficit and navigate the impact of US tariffs and sanctions tied to Russian crude purchases.

Moscow has offered additional discounts on oil after India's intake dipped in recent weeks, and cooperation in fertilisers, small modular reactors and a proposed free trade pact with the Eurasian Economic Union will also be on the table.

Putin is expected to brief Modi on the latest diplomatic developments around the Ukraine conflict, with India reiterating its stance that diplomacy alone can end the war.

Putin is scheduled to depart Delhi around 9 pm on Friday.

- More IndiGo flights to be cancelled for 2-3 days

IndiGo to cut ops from Monday, full normalcy in Feb

S LALITHA @ New Delhi

ON a day when over 500 more flights were cancelled, IndiGo told the Directorate of Civil Aviation (DGCA) that normal and stable operations can be fully restored by the airline only by February 10.

It said flight cancellations would continue for the next 2-3 days, adding it would start cutting down on flight operations from December 8 to minimise disruption.

The airline urged the regulator to exempt its A320s from certain Flight Duty Time Limitation (FDTL) norms, which mandate a maximum of two night landings as against the earlier six.

The DGCA advised it to submit in detail the FDTL relaxations it required to normalise flights operations.

IndiGo made its presentation on Thursday at meet with the Director General of the DGCA. "IndiGo has assured DGCA that corrective actions are underway and that normalised and stable operations will be fully restored by 10 February 2026," the regulator said. More cancellations will continue over the next 2-3 days, the airlines said.

IndiGo acknowledged that the disruptions arose primarily from misjudgment and planning gaps in implementing Phase 2 of FDTL, which kicked in on November 1.

"Indigo has been directed to normalise operations at the earliest and also ensure that it does not lead to increase in fares," the DGCA added.

Couple bypasses KIA security, sneaks in ganja worth ₹18.60cr

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

MAHALAKSHMI Layout police have arrested a couple, who managed to smuggle 18.59 kg of hydro ganja worth Rs 18.60 crore out of high-security Kempegowda International Airport (KIA). The accused have been identified as Shafiuddin Sheikh, 34, a mechanic, and his wife Sara Simran, 26, a homemaker, from Kammanahalli.

Preliminary investigations revealed that Sheikh and Simran were mules, who carried hydro ganja from Bangkok. They were offered free travel, accommodation, and additional payment to smuggle hydro ganja. They were sent on a four-day trip on a tourist visa.

The couple managed to bring in 10 food packets, containing over 18 kg of hydro ganja worth Rs 18.6 crore, concealed in their backpacks. Acting on a tip-off, the police intercepted the couple near Rani Abbakka Playground in Mahalakshmi Layout on November 30, hours after they left KIA. P5

Deploy more staff for SIR, SC tells states

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @ New Delhi

TAKING note of a plea alleging extreme work pressure faced by booth level officers (BLOs) engaged in the special revision of polls roll, the Supreme Court on Thursday asked states and Union Territories to consider roping in additional staff so that work pressure of BLOs is eased.

A bench comprising Chief Justice Surya Kant and Justice Joymalya Bagchi said, "In case they are facing hardships, including being overburdened, the state government can obviate such hardships."

The court was hearing an application by actor Vijay's party TVK seeking a fiat to ECI to not take coercive actions against BLOs for failing to perform their duties.

If any employee has a 'specific reason' for seeking exemption from SIR duty, a competent officer of the state government can consider it on a case-to-case basis and replace that an employee with another, the bench said.

CM plans strategy to take on Oppn in session

CM Siddaramaiah held a meeting with his cabinet colleagues on Thursday, after the bureaucrats had left, and chalked out a strategy to face the opposition BJP and JDS in the Belagavi legislature session starting December 8. He also conveyed the message that he and DCM DK Shivakumar have no differences, as was evident in their breakfast meetings, and advised ministers to focus on the session and reply effectively to issues which will be raised by opposition legislators. "The CM gave advice, instructions and guidance on preparations to be made for discussions, and taking the stakeholders seriously," Law and Parliamentary Affairs Minister HK Patil informed. Since farmers were facing problems, the state government is making efforts to purchase maize. About 55 lakh tonnes of maize has been grown on 17,500 lakh acres of land, and ethanol factories need to purchase 7.50 lakh tonnes, Patil said. It would be purchased at an MSP of Rs 2,400, and as per the Centre's instructions, Rs 2,639/ quintal is to be given, so government has decided to give Rs 239. Some factories have given indents, and some have not, Patil said. He said instructions would be given to those who have not given indents. In addition, KMF should purchase 50,000 MT and registra-tion process has already begin to purchase as soon as possible, which will ensure stability in the market, he said.

Hate Speech Bill gets Cabinet nod, to be tabled in Belagavi session

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and ministers arrive to attend the cabinet meeting at Vidhana Soudha in Bengaluru on Thursday | NAGARAJA GADEKAL

THE Karnataka Cabinet on Thursday approved seven draft bills, including The Karnataka Hate Speech and Hate Crimes (Prevention) Bill, 2025, to be tabled in the winter session of the legislature starting in Belagavi from December 8.

The Bill aims to curb and prevent dissemination, publication or promotion of hate speech and crimes, which cause disharmony, hatred in society, against the person or group of persons, organisations and provide punishment to such crimes and to provide adequate compensation to the injured victims.

"It is to curb all sorts of hate speeches. Which is hate speech and which is an expression of ideological stand are distinct and there is clarity in the Bill," clarified Law and Parliamentary Affairs Minister HK Patil while briefing the press.

Under the Bill, any offence will attract imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than one year, but may extend to seven years with a fine of Rs.50,000, and for any subsequent or repetitive offences the punishment shall not be less than two years which may extend to 10 years with fine of Rs.1 lakh. The offences are cognizable, non-bailable and triable by a Judicial Magistrate (First Class).

The provisions shall not extend to any book, pamphlet, paper, writing, drawing, painting representation or figure in electronic-form or otherwise the publication of which is proved to be justified as being for the public good on the ground that such book, pamphlet, paper, writing drawing, painting representation or figure is in the interest of science, literature, art or learning or other objects of general concern; or which is kept or used for bona fide heritage or religious purposes. If the person, committing an offence under the Act, is an organisation or institution, every person who, at the time of the offence committed, was in charge of, and was responsible to, such organisation or institution for the conduct of the business of the same, as well as such organisation or institution, shall be deemed to be guilty of the offence and shall be liable to be proceeded against and punished accordingly.

The Cabinet also approved the draft Karnataka Social Boycott (Prevention, Prohibition and Redressal) Bill, 2025, to prevent instances of social boycott and aims to bring social reform. It aims to stop families from being harassed with social boycott. It is to curb unconstitutional practices such as boycotts, imposition of various punishments by extra-judicial bodies such as caste or community panchayats, etc., which are still practiced in various communities in the state, resulting in great harassment to individuals or groups in leading their lives with dignity. The existing laws are found to be inadequate in dealing with such practices and the government therefore considered it expedient to enact legislation, said the minister.

Karnataka Prevention of Slaughter and Preservation of Cattle Bill deals with establishment of slaughter houses with a scope for receiving the central government's grants, said the minister.

The other bills that got the Cabinet nod are: The Bayaluseeme Area Development Board (Amendment) Bill, Malnad Area Development Board (Amendment) Bill, Karnataka Hindu Religious Institution and Endowment (Amendment) Bill, Shree Chamundeshwari Kshetra Development Authority (Amendment) Bill and Karnataka Inland Water Transport Rules.

'OBJECTIONABLE' STATEMENT

HC stays proceedings against Kumaraswamy

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE High Court of Karnataka on Thursday stayed the proceedings against Union Minister for Steel and Heavy Industries HD Kumaraswamy in a case related to his alleged objectionable statement against an opposition party candidate contesting the Lok Sabha elections from Bengaluru Rural constituency.

Justice S Sunil Dutt Yadav passed the interim order staying the proceedings till the next date of hearing. The matter was posted to the third week of January for hearing.

Referring to the complaint registered at the Gubbi police station in Tumakuru district on April 18, 2024 after a campaign meeting on April 13, 2024, the petitioner stated that the magistrate took cognisance of the offences under Section 171G of IPC on November 15, 2025. The complaint, however, did not disclose or constitute the commission of any offence by the petitioner.

The petitioner stated that the material on record, including the statement of witnesses, categorically confirmed that the accused never mentioned the name of the candidate contesting from Bengaluru Rural constituency during a media interaction.

The Investigating officer filed a 'B' report on two occasions, but the magistrate recorded that "any prudent man can infer" that the accused referred to the candidate, thereby conceding that no direct or explicit statement existed.

The impugned order showed that cognisance was taken primarily on the basis of a newspaper report published on April 14, 2024, which the magistrate expressly acknowledged to be based on a wrong impression, the petitioner said.

The magistrate failed to identify any specific false statement attributable to the petitioner and also failed to show how the alleged statement, even if assumed, could affect the result of an election.

The magistrate also failed to examine or record the mandatory ingredients of Section 171G of IPC and rejected the 'B' report solely on conjecture, without pointing to any legal or factual infirmity in the investigation, the petitioner stated.

Siddaramaiah and Shivakumar have only hit pause, leadership issue may refire after session

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

Even as Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and his deputy DK Shivakumar projected a united front with breakfast diplomacy, the leadership change issue is likely to resurface after the Belagavi session concludes on December 19.

The winter session of Parliament also concludes on the same day.

The Siddaramaiah camp is reportedly preparing to counter Shivakumar, who may rekindle the issue of a power-sharing pact struck when the party came to power in 2023. They are drawing up several plots, including playing the Dalit CM card if it becomes inevitable for Siddaramaiah to step down.

CWC permanent invitee BK Hariprasad is likely to meet senior leader Sonia Gandhi in Delhi and convince her of the need to maintain status quo, according to sources. He met AICC general secretary (organisation) KC Venugopal in Mangaluru during Sri Narayan Guru's event on Wednesday, along with Siddaramaiah. On his return, he held talks with Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara and PWD Minister Satish Jarkiholi at the latter's residence in Bengaluru.

Former cooperation minister and Siddaramaiah's aide KN Rajanna reiterated that if it's inevitable for Siddaramaiah to step down, Dr G Parameshwara should be made the CM. Interestingly, Rajanna's MLC-son Rajendra met Union Minister Pralhad Joshi in Delhi a couple of days ago. His recent meeting with Home Minister Amit Shah had set off ripples in political circles.

However, Rajanna maintained that his son being a senior KRIBHCO director had met Shah in that capacity. According to highly-placed sources, some North Karnataka Congress legislators were also seeking an audience with Shah. They want to secure their political future and switch sides ahead of the 2028 assembly polls, as Siddaramaiah would not be as influential as he used to be as AHINDA leader in 2023, sources observed.

War of words rages between BJP & DKS over Cartier watch

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

BJP leaders on Thursday alleged that Deputy Chief Minister and Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee (KPCC) DK Shivakumar had misled the state with his statement that he had purchased a Cartier wristwatch in Australia and had mentioned it in his election affidavit.

They told reporters here that a copy of the election affidavit obtained by them mentioned that Shivakumar owns only Hublot and Rolex watches worth Rs 24 lakh and Rs 9 lakh, respectively.

"The Cartier brand of wristwatch, which Shivakumar wears, is worth Rs 46 lakh," Leader of Opposition in the Legislative Council Chalavadi Narayanaswamy alleged.

He said CM Siddaramaiah and Shivakumar wear the same brand of wristwatches. "Shivakumar's election affidavit does not mention that he owns a Cartier watch. This watch costs around Rs 43 lakh. Including tax, it costs over Rs 46 lakh. We just want to know from where he got this watch? Is it a stolen one?," he said.

Deputy CM DK Shivakumar seen wearing the Cartier watch during his breakfast meeting with CM Siddaramaiah recently

He said if Shivakumar had purchased it, why has he not mentioned it in his election affidavit. "Are you not lying to the people of Karnataka? You (Shivakumar) claimed that you used your credit card to buy this watch. If so, release documents supporting it," the BJP leader said.

Narayanaswamy also alleged that not just the wristwatch, even Siddaramaiah's shoes are worth lakhs of rupees. He ridiculed Shivakumar and said, "Your wristwatch might be good, but your 'time' is not."

Reacting to this, Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar said that he had mentioned the expensive watches he owns in his election affidavit. But the BJP leaders knew nothing about them. Slamming Narayanaswamy, Shivakumar said, "What does he know? I know what I have mentioned in my election affidavit. I have purchased the watches and I have disclosed all details in a transparent manner. I have nothing to learn from Narayanaswamy."

Leader of Opposition in the Assembly R Ashoka alleged that Karnataka now has a 63% commission government. He demanded that the CBI investigate the alleged scams in the state, including allotment of MUDA sites and misappropriation of funds in Valmiki Development Corporation.

"The ruling Congress had sent around Rs 300 crore to its unit in Bihar for the recent elections there. We will raise this issue during the Belagavi session," Ashoka said.

PREPARE VISION DOCUMENT TO ATTRACT $150B INVESTMENTS: MB PATIL

BENGALURU: Industries Minister MB Patil on Thursday directed officials to prepare a vision document aimed at attracting investments to the tune of $150 billion in the coming years to boost production of mobile and electronics products and design in the state. He said this after a meeting with a delegation led by Pankaj Mohindroo, chairman, India Cellular and Electronics Association (ICEA), here. Stating that he had announced an electronics components manufacturing scheme in April, Patil said, "The state government is exploring the possibility of introducing a parallel scheme and is now studying its feasibility. A proposal in this regard is in the draft stage, and we welcome suggestions from ICEA." Patil said, "Karnataka has significant potential not only in manufacturing mobile-phone components, but also in industrial and strategic electronics. Officials have been instructed to study the Union government's scheme and similar policies implemented by other states." ENS

'Certificate of corruption': BJP lambasts Cong over Upa Lokayukta's graft remark

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

KARNATAKA's political landscape was jolted on Wednesday after Upa Lokayukta Justice B Veerappa reportedly ranked the state as the fifth most corrupt in India, triggering an all-out opposition offensive and renewed calls for the Congress government to resign.

Leader of Opposition in the Assembly R Ashoka described it a "certificate of corruption" issued by the judiciary itself. Addressing reporters in Bengaluru on Thursday, Ashoka lambasted the Congress administration, saying, "Corruption is overflowing in every department of your government. Karnataka has 63% corruption-this is the certificate given by none other than the Hon'ble Upalokayukta to your own government. What do you have to say now? Will you take moral responsibility and resign, or will you continue this shameless conduct?" Ashoka's remarks, delivered in response to Justice Veerappa's comments at a book release event on Wednesday-where he contrasted Karnataka's corruption rate with Kerala's mere 10%-have amplified the opposition's narrative.

LoP in Council Chalavadi Narayanaswamy said that the Congress government had "lost all moral authority" to remain in office. The BJP leader said Justice Veerappa's statement, made during a public address on Tuesday, carried the "credibility of judicial scrutiny" and could not be brushed aside as routine political sniping.

"When a serving Upa Lokayukta says Karnataka stands fifth in corruption, it is no longer a slogan - it is authenticated," Narayanaswamy told reporters. "If the government accepts this, it is unfit to continue. If it denies it, it must explain why a sitting judge would make such a serious observation," he added.

The BJP leader said the remark had "shattered" the Congress government's defence against mounting allegations of graft. "This is not the opposition calling them corrupt. This is a sitting justice. The ministers and their leaders in government have to resign immediately," he demanded.

Siddu hits back at Ashoka on '63% corruption'

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah on Thursday countered the BJP's attack over Upa Lokayukta Justice B Veerappa's statement of "63% corruption in Karnataka", pointing out that the report Justice Veerappa referred to had been submitted in November 2019, when BJP leader BS Yediyurappa was CM. "Upa Lokayukta Justice B Veerappa had stated in his November 2019 report that corruption stood at 63 per cent, and had merely reiterated the same report. Then, the Yediyurappa government was in power. By misinterpreting Justice Veerappa's words, R Ashoka has tried to pin the BJP's own sins on our heads, and shot himself in the foot," Siddaramaiah said. Listing the alleged scams during the BJP regime, he said, "Even when people were dying on the streets during Covid, there was shameless looting in the purchase of ventilators, masks, sanitiser and ICU equipment... A minimum of 40% commission was the norm. Belagavi contractor Santosh Patil, unable to bear harassment by minister KS Eshwarappa, was driven to suicide. Massive irregularities took place in Bhadra Upper Bank and Cauvery Neeravari Nigam projects..." Turning to the national level, he said: "Today, under PM Modi who claims 'Na khaunga, na khane doonga', India is drowning in corruption. In the latest Corruption Perception Index released by Transparency International, India has slipped to 96th position." He also dismissed Ashoka's demand for the government's resignation.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

IN a classic case of the fence eating the crop, a head constable attached to the Cyber Crime Police Station (CCPS) allegedly stole Rs 11 lakh from a car belonging to an accused in a cyber crime case, which had been seized and parked on the premises of City Police Commissioner's office.

According to police sources, the head constable has been identified as Jabiullah, who was serving at the CCPS under the Central Crime Branch (CCB).

Police had arrested an accused in a cybercrime case on November 13 and seized his car. The accused was taken into custody while his car driver had taken one bag from the car among the two bags.

After securing bail, the accused visited the station, located in the police commissioner's office compound, on Monday, to take back his vehicle and noticed that a bag containing Rs 11 lakh was missing. He immediately approached senior officers at the Commissioner's Office. Police analysed CCTV footage and learned of Jabiullah's involvement.

A search conducted at his residence revealed some cash hidden under his bed. It was also found that he had purchased gold jewellery for his wife using the stolen money, the source said adding the constable attempted to obstruct the raid at his residence. Sources added that the police recovered the stolen amount of Rs 11 lakh and returned it to the accused.

City Police Commissioner Seemant Kumar Singh said, "I have sought a report from senior officers, and action will be taken based on the report."

The suspended personnel are ASI Srinivas Murthy attached to Nandini Layout police station; ASI Jayaramegowda and Head Constable Dharma, both attached to Subramanyanagar police station; and Constable Nazir attached to Sanjaynagar police station.

Deputy Commissioner of Police (North) Babasab Nemagouda issued the suspension orders on Tuesday, and a departmental inquiry has been initiated against all the four staff members.

According to the order, ASI Srinivas Murthy was suspended for failing to take action despite a complaint filed by a woman about suspicious man lurking around her house. He also failed to inform his senior officer about the complaint or take any legal action. The issue later went viral on social media after the victim posted about it, prompting action against the ASI.

Similarly, ASI Jayaramegowda and Head Constable Dharma were suspended for allegedly failing to serve court-issued summons and warrants to accused persons and witnesses in a case.

In another instance, Constable Nazir from Sanjaynagar police station faced disciplinary action for failing to report for bandobast duty at the Chief Minister's residence. He also failed to inform his senior officers about his leave, the order stated.

SENIOR CITIZEN STRANGLES BEDRIDDEN WIFE, HANGS SELF

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

A 65-year-old mentally distressed man died by suicide after strangling his bedridden wife to death at their house in Subramanyapura police limits on Tuesday.

The deceased have been identified as Baby, 65, and her husband Venkateshan, a retired BMTC bus driver. The couple lived with their son Anil Kumar on 3rd Cross Road at Chikkagoudanapalya in Subramanyapura. Police said the incident came to light after Anil's wife returned home from school with their child around 12.45 pm on Tuesday. According to family sources, Baby suffered a stroke five years ago and was unable to move on her own. She also could not speak properly. Baby used a wheelchair to move around.

Unable to see Baby in this condition, Venkateshan used to quarrel at home frequently. He later slipped into depression and used to reportedly say, "I cannot see her in this condition. One day I will kill her and then end my life."

When his son and daughter-in-law were not at home on Tuesday, Venkateshan allegedly strangled Baby to death with the plastic rope and later hanged himself from the ceiling fan with the same rope.

Stringent laws required to save manuscripts: HK Patil

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THERE is a need to formulate a new plan and bring in stringent laws to protect manuscripts in state, as they are an asset, Minister for Law and Parliamentary Affairs and Tourism HK Patil said on Thursday.

Patil was speaking at the inauguration of a daylong workshop titled 'Preservation and Digitisation of Manuscripts' organised by the Department of Archaeology, Museums, and Heritage. A comprehensive report on Indian heritage, manuscript preservation, and digitisation was also released on the occasion. He said though there is a law to protect heritage monuments, only 800 of the 25,000 monuments identified in the state are protected.

"All departments should work in tandem and at a faster pace to cover and protect all of them. A target of protecting at least 5,000 monuments during this government's tenure has been set," he added.

Expressing regret that the government did not pay much attention to the prevention of manuscripts and scholarly works so far, Patil said a law will also be brought to encourage people to hand over or even declare the manuscripts in their possession with the government.

The report detailed the works done by various institutions in Karnataka for digitisation and protection of manuscripts. According to the data available, there are 1,20,835 manuscripts collected by various associations, organisations, monasteries, private individuals, universities, and government departments in Karnataka.

This report also includes detailed institutional notes with the comprehensive policy overview earlier submitted to the Union Government showing the efforts that the Karnataka government is taking in manuscript preservation and digital heritage management.

The report also listed the creation of a unified Karnataka Digital Heritage Portal integrating manuscripts, printed books and archival documents under one digital platform. This initiative aligns with the Digital India Mission and the National Mission for Manuscripts.

The report listed the plan of establishing National Centre for History of Indian Sciences at Oriental Research Institute (ORI) Mysuru, training digital archivists, implementing AI-powered tools for script recognition and metadata tagging, and expanding digitisation capacity. The report also noted that the ORI has initiated the programme of digitising its entire manuscript collection and also opening its own0 website so that the huge collection of palm leaf and paper manuscripts can be made available to interested scholars across the world. The ORI has also signed an MoU with Mahabaratha Prathishthana of Bengaluru. The Indira Gandhi National Centre for Arts, New Delhi, will also be involved in the institute's digitisation programme, the report read. wIn her speech, Chief Secretary Shalini Rajneesh said that the government is aiming to collect 1 lakh manuscripts and digitise them for better protection.

Schools told to count stray dogs, ensure relocation

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

ACTING on the Supreme Court order to relocate stray dogs from public places, the department of school education and literacy (DSEL) has directed all private, government, aided and unaided schools count the number of strays on their premises and submit a report.

The department also directed that each school appoint the principal or a senior teacher as nodal officer for this programme. They should also assist local organisations in transporting dogs from their premises to dog shelters. The order also stated that the schools should have compound wall or fence to prevent stray dogs from entering the premises again.

The field education officers and district deputy directors have been told by the department to coordinate with the urban and rural local bodies to ensure that schools under their jurisdiction comply with the directive.

However, the department's order is facing objections from several school managements. Lokesh Talikatte, president, Registered and Unaided Private Schools Association, said, "The students' board examinations are approaching and we have other duties to focus on. The teachers have to complete the lessons before December 15. Asking the teachers and principals to not only count dogs but also cooperate with organisations to shift them is not fair. It shouldn't have been made compulsory for the educational institutions to count stray dogs."

Soil quality dip a major challenge for agriculture, planning: Experts

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

EXPERTS have expressed concern that soil quality has become a serious matter of concern in urban and agrarian areas, because its nutrient content and water holding capacity is drastically deteriorating.

One of the components that determines good soil quality is the presence of organic carbon. According to soil experts, the current value of organic carbon in soil is around 0.33%. It is less than the accepted standard value of 0.5–0.75% per 100 grams of soil. "At present, the overall organic carbon value of soil in most of the places is less than the required minimum for it to be termed as healthy. Organic carbon helps increase soil richness. It is also an essential binding agent that helps ensure that vital nutrients are in balance," said Dr R Krishna Murthy, a professor at the GKVK and a soil fertility and nutrient management expert.

This is one of the findings by researchers conducting a soil study in Karnataka. So far, 25 lakh hectares of soil has been studied. The study is being conducted by teams from World Bank, all agricultural universities of Karnataka, watershed department and ICAR – National Bureau of Soil Survey and Land Use Planning. The study began in 2022 and is expected to end by March 2026. The final report is scheduled to be submitted to the state and Union governments in June 2026.

WORLD SOIL DAY

The day is being observed on December 5 since 2014 to create awareness on the importance of soil to sustain life on Earth. The theme for the year 2025 is 'Healthy soil for healthy cities'.

"Soil quality is good in Ghat regions, forest areas or places where protected organic farming is being practised. But reports show a decline in overall soil quality, particularly organic carbon, in many regions. The only way to increase it is by reducing the use of chemical and inorganic fertilisers and increasing the use of organic fertilisers. Soil fertility started to change after the green revolution. Many farmers do not use organic fertilisers because of their high cost. The presence of organic carbon is the essential base for maintaining balance of 17 soil nutrients, including calcium, magnesium, sulphur, manganese, copper, boron and chlorine," he added.

Experts working on the report said this is the first of its kind study being undertaken, hence there is no baseline for comparison. Basic required standards and international norms are kept as the baseline for calculation while making the report. This study will help in future planning of how and where agriculture, horticulture, irrigation, urbanisation and infrastructure projects should be executed.

Govt to compensate land owners after 60 years

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE High Court of Karnataka has directed the state government to pay compensation to landowners whose nine guntas of land was acquired without following rules to build a school and road six decades ago at Haradagere village in Tumakuru district.

"In view of the state's admission that the land having been utilised without recourse to lawful acquisition, this court is of the considered opinion that compensation must inevitably follow. The petition is allowed. The respondents, principal secretary of the revenue department and the deputy commissioner of Tumakuru, are directed to determine the compensation under the provisions of Right to Fair Compensation and Transparency in Land Acquisition, Rehabilitation and Resettlement Act, 2013, and pass necessary orders, in accordance with law," the court said.

Justice M Nagaprasanna passed the order allowing the petition filed by HP Ramesh and Sushmitha MR from Haradagere village, seeking directions for grant of compensation, which was denied on the grounds of delay in claiming it.

HC upholds order to light deepam on hill, TN moves SC

VIGNESH V @Madurai

TENSION in Thiruparankundram continued for the second day as the standoff between the supporters of Hindu outfits and the state police regarding lighting of the lamp atop the hill on a Deepathoon near a dargah remained unresolved.

Though Justice G R Swaminathan of the Madurai Bench of the Madras High Court, acting on a contempt petition on Thursday afternoon, directed the Madurai police commissioner J Loganathan to ensure fullest protection to the petitioners and their associates to light Karthigai Deepam on the deepathoon, police refused permission citing a Special Leave Petition filed before the Supreme Court by the state government against the order late on Thursday.

Several BJP leaders, including president of the state unit, Nainar Nagenthran and their supporters were later detained by the police and removed from the spot in police vehicles. Petitioner Rama Ravikumar and scores of Hindu outfit members waited at the entrance of the foothills for nearly three hours, for permission to ascend the hill after Justice GR Swaminathan quashed the prohibitory order issued by Madurai Collector KJ Praveenkumar under Section 163 of the BNSS in Thiruparankundram. The judge passed the order a few hours after a division bench of Justices G Jayachandran and KK Ramakrishnan, in an appeal filed by the TN government, upheld the single judge's order dated December 3, directing the petitioner to light the deepam with CISF protection.

Cong expels Mamkootathil as court dismisses bail plea

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@T'Puram

SOON after a court in Thiruvananthapuram rejected the anticipatory bail petition of Rahul Mamkootathil, the Congress, in a face-saving act, expelled the disgraced MLA from the party's primary membership.

With pressure mounting from within and outside the party, the Congress state leadership had no other option but to oust Rahul, who is absconding after being booked for rape.

In a statement, state Congress president Sunny Joseph said the decision was taken "in view of the serious complaints and the cases registered against Rahul". Sunny said Rahul should also resign from the legislative assembly as he is no longer a Congress member.

Leader of Opposition V D Satheesan termed the decision an example other parties could follow. "The decision to expel Rahul was taken on Wednesday. It's insignificant whether it was issued yesterday or today. I am proud of my party," he said.

Vadakara MP Shafi Parambil, Rahul's mentor in the party, said the Congress has taken an exemplary action against the MLA, which no other party can claim.

Talking to reporters in Kozhikode, Shafi said he supported Rahul's politics and not his activities in personal capacity. Rahul was forced to step down as Youth Congress state president on August 21 after an actor first accused him of inappropriate behaviour. Later on August 25, the Congress leadership suspended him from the party after more allegations of sexual misconduct surfaced. Despite the suspension, Rahul was active in the local body candidate selection and campaigning in Palakkad.

Tamil filmmaker AVM Saravanan dies at 86

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Chennai

VETERAN tamil producer and current proprietor of AVM Studios, M Saravanan, fondly known as AVM Saravanan, passed away on Thursday due to age-related ailments. He was 86.

Saravanan's mortal remains were kept at AVM Studios till 3pm on Thursday, after which he was cremated in the AVM crematorium. Rajinikanth spoke highly of Saravanan and the production company, and said, "He loved me a lot and was a well-wisher of mine. He has stood by me during my difficult times. I have acted in nine films in AVM. All nine films emerged as big hits. It won't be an exaggeration if I say that the main reason for them becoming hits was Saravanan sir."

Reminiscing about the 'long-standing bond between AVM Studios and the Dravidian movement's cinematic journey', Tamil Nadu CM MK Stalin said, "A man who embodied peace and simplicity, he treated everyone with love and kindness." M Saravanan had also served as the Sheriff of Madras in 1986. His landmark projects span from Naanum Oru Penn (1963), which predates his main work in the 80s and 90s, to films like Samsaram Adhu Minsaram (1986), Minsara Kanavu (1997), Sivaji: The Boss (2007), and Ayan (2009).

ACB to file chargesheet against KTR in Formula-E race case

IREDDY SRINIVAS REDDY
@Hyderabad

THE Anti-Corruption Bureau is preparing to file a chargesheet in the Formula-E race case against former minister KT Rama Rao, IAS officer Arvind Kumar, former HMDA chief engineer BLN Reddy and others in the coming week.

The agency has obtained prosecution sanction from the Governor to proceed against Rama Rao under the Prevention of Corruption Act. Officials say prosecution sanction is not required for private individuals while a request was sent to the DoPT over 90 days ago. Permission is deemed given if a request is pending for 90 days.

The event was proposed through private discussions among A4 Kiran Malleswara Rao, Dilbagh Gill of Mahindra Racing and KT Rama Rao, bypassing formal government channels. Investigators claim that the chief secretary, finance minister, chief minister and cabinet were not informed. The agency has alleged that the arrangement involved electoral bonds valued at Rs 44 crore, reportedly paid to the BRS in April and October 2022, ahead of the tripartite agreement.

They state that Ace Nxt Gen was given the promoter role and later allowed to exit despite losses. The ACB alleges that Hyderabad Metropolitan Development Authority (HMDA) funds were diverted to support Season 9, despite HMDA not being a contracting party. Records show HMDA spent Rs 20.99 crore on civic works and track preparation. Investigators further found that two instalments totalling about Rs 46 crore were paid to Formula E Operations Limited in October 2023.

DRYING GROUNDWATER: DIVERSIFY CROPS NOW, MODERNISE IRRIGATION

PUNJAB once fed a hungry nation. Guided by government policy and buoyed by subsidised power, farmers embraced paddy and wheat, chemical fertilisers, and the tube well. The Green Revolution delivered food security to India—but at a staggering ecological cost that Punjab is now paying alone. Today, 73 percent of its groundwater blocks are 'overexploited'. Extraction stands at an alarming 156 percent. Nearly 97 percent of this is pulled out for irrigation—mostly for a single crop that was never native to Punjab: paddy. The science is undisputed. Punjab's groundwater in the first 100 metres might dry up by 2029. By 2039, availability could plunge below 300 metres, where extraction becomes unaffordable and the water becomes unfit for irrigation. Meanwhile, paddy still claims nearly 90 percent of Punjab's kharif acreage. The situation is turning critical in Haryana, Rajasthan, Karnataka, Madhya Pradesh, Tamil Nadu, Uttar Pradesh, Delhi, and Puducherry, too.

There is no time for blame; only for a solution. The Punjab case should show the way. Farmers grew what the nation asked them to grow. Assured procurement made paddy the safest economic choice. Power subsidies kept costs low. To suddenly demand that farmers change course, without giving them viable alternatives, is unrealistic and unfair. Solutions do exist, and they must now become non-negotiable. For decades, experts—from the Johl Committee in 1986 to scientists today—have recommended reducing paddy acreage and creating stable markets for alternative crops. Farmers say they are willing to shift if the government guarantees procurement and fair prices.

Energy reform must be a part of the answer. Smarter power pricing—paired with financial incentives—can curb over-pumping while protecting farmer incomes. Results from Punjab's 'Paani bachao, paisa kamao' pilot show that such incentives work. Infrastructure, too, needs an urgent overhaul. With under a third of farmland receiving canal water, Punjab must remodel its British-era canal network to reduce groundwater dependence. Many of the state's 1.4 million abandoned borewells offer the rare opportunity of use as low-cost recharge structures to replenish the aquifers. Punjab needs coordinated Centre-state action that places farmers at the core, and this cooperation must deliver results—not repeat decades of drift, since even the Akali Dal-BJP partnership in the Vajpayee era showed that political alignment alone cannot move long-pending groundwater reforms.

EXPANDED HYDERABAD MUST DELIVER FOR ALL

THE Telangana government's decision to fold 20 municipalities and seven municipal corporations into the Greater Hyderabad Municipal Corporation (GHMC), expanding its jurisdiction from 625 sq km to nearly 2,000 sq km, represents a significant recasting of urban governance. The GHMC is now the country's largest municipality by area. The real question is whether this restructuring can correct Hyderabad's persistent problems of uneven development, regulatory inconsistency, and overstretched civic services that have long undermined the city's growth.

For years, the fragmented jurisdictions surrounding the Outer Ring Road have struggled with potholed roads, unreliable water supply, sanitation gaps, congestion, and mounting environmental stress. These shortcomings have been particularly acute for peri-urban residents who have remained underserved despite rapid population growth. A single, enlarged GHMC offers the possibility of coherent master planning, better transport networks, stronger pollution control mechanisms, and more rational resource mobilisation. The civic body's ₹8,440-crore budget for 2025-26 will need to cross ₹10,000 crore next year to serve an expanded population of about 1.6 crore. The fiscal heft could accelerate the 23 projects under the Hyderabad City Innovative and Transformative Infrastructure initiative and advance the broader Telangana Core Urban Region vision extending across Hyderabad, Rangareddy, Medchal-Malkajgiri, and Sangareddy districts.

Execution will determine whether the merger fulfils its promise. Centralisation has always had its sceptics. Some argue that a larger civic authority could marginalise residents living far from the urban core and heighten corruption in a more sprawling bureaucracy. Others maintain that only a consolidated institution can attract investment, deploy resources efficiently, and balance development across an expanding metropolis. With the merger now a fait accompli, the immediate tasks are evident: fair ward delimitation, taxes that do not place disproportionate burdens on a region, and a substantial augmentation of GHMC's administrative and technical staff.

Predictably, the political dimension has surfaced quickly. The BJP has accused the Congress government of pursuing the merger with electoral calculations in mind, hoping to gain ground before the GHMC elections next year. Such allegations will continue. Ultimately, the credibility test lies in whether the enlarged GHMC can deliver equitable, effective governance to a megapolis that has long outgrown its institutional capacity.

For Hyderabad, the merger must become more than an administrative exercise. It must anchor a long-term commitment to planned growth, resilient infrastructure and civic equity across the entire metropolitan region today.

HELPING THE BRAVE

THE Supreme Court has expressed shock that an acid attack victim's plea has been stuck in a Delhi trial court for 16 years. Calling the delay "a mockery of the system", Chief Justice Surya Kant asked the solicitor general to consider such victims as divyangjan or differently abled. Such a step would go some way in helping those bearing the scars of the cruel act. There were 207 acid attack cases registered in 2023. At the same time, it's estimated that up to three-fifths of such attacks were never reported. So speeding up the trials of the brave few who come forward to report the crime would be essential, too.

The new digital personal data protection framework institutionalises a surveillance apparatus. The State can access citizens' private information without any clear responsibility to protect it smartly

BUILDING A DATA FORTRESS WITH A FLAWED DESIGN

MANISH TEWARI

MP, lawyer, and former Union I&B minister

IN the grand architectural blueprint of digital governance, India's digital personal data protection (DPDP) framework, comprising the DPDP Act of 2023 and its accompanying rules of 2025, present themselves as a fortress preserving and protecting individual privacy. Yet, it has a critical design flaw: its most formidable defences are oriented exclusively outwards, towards private entities, while leaving the rear gate not merely unguarded, but actively propped open for the Orwellian State.

The framework creates a perilous artificial dichotomy—imposing a rigorous, if imperfect, regime upon corporations, while anointing the State as an unassailable aggressor against the very civil right it purports to protect. It is a fundamental reorientation of the social contract, one that places the citizen's most intimate digital self at the mercy of the sovereign, devoid of the procedural safeguards that are the bedrock of a constitutional democracy.

The constitutional spirit, invigorated by the K S Puttaswamy (2018) verdict, recognised privacy as an intrinsic component of Article 21. This right ought not to be deprived except by a procedure established by law, as laid down in the Maneka Gandhi (1978) case. The DPDP framework creates the mirage of a substantive right for the individual while simultaneously constructing vast exclusion zones for the State. The exemptions culminate in the chilling expanse of the Seventh Schedule of the DPDP Rules.

Purpose 2 of the rules allows the use of personal data for the "performance of any function under any law for the time being in force". This is not a targeted exception for national security, safeguarded by judicial oversight; it is a bottomless pit of authority.

A municipal corporation clearing garbage, a transport department issuing a bus pass, or a ministry formulating a new scheme—all can invoke this provision to access, process, and share the most intimate details of a citizen's life. The privileged sanctity of attorney-client communications, the confidential dialogue between doctor and patient, the private correspondence between spouses—all can be vacuumed into the State's digital repository, not pursuant to a judicial warrant based on probable cause, but on the mere assertion of a statutory function. When this is read in conjunction with Section 15(c) of the Act, which imposes a duty on the individual not to suppress material information for State-issued documents, the framework effectively compels self-incrimination.

SOURAV ROY

It grants the State and its instrumentalities a carte blanche to process personal data for the provision of any "subsidy, benefit, service, certificate, license or permit". The definitions provided in rule 5(2) are so breathtakingly expansive that they cover virtually every interaction an individual has with the State. This means that applying for a driver's licence, a passport, or a ration card becomes a tacit and coerced surrender of personal data. The notion of informed consent—the bedrock of any data protection regime—is rendered redundant when the alternative to providing data is the denial of an essential service or a legal entitlement. The State, which in political theory is merely an association of individuals constituted for collective good, has through this framework positioned itself as a panoptic entity with an insatiable appetite for the personal data of its constituents.

From a forensic standpoint, the framework's handling of data erasure and security is a testament to a profound misunderstanding of the digital substrate. The rules speak of 'erasure' as if it were a simple event—a file deleted from a desktop. This is a dangerous anachronism. For example, a photograph on a smartphone is a complex constellation of data: a header, pixel arrays with colour values, metadata tags detailing the precise location, camera settings, and time stamps. When a user consents to its storage, this constellation is not merely written to the phone's flash memory; it is often synchronised to a cloud infrastructure.

Now, consider the command to 'erase'. On the device, a file system deletion often merely marks the storage blocks as 'available', leaving the underlying magnetic orientations or charge traps in a flash cell perfectly readable to forensic tools until overwritten. In the cloud, the process is even more opaque. The erasure might involve deleting pointers in a metadata database, but the actual data shards may persist in backup systems.

The rules demand erasure after specified periods, but are silent on the technical standard required. Is a logical delete sufficient, or is a multi-pass overwrite mandated? For solid-state drives with wear-levelling algorithms, even an overwrite command offers no guarantee. Immutable destruction requires physical degaussing or shredding of chips—a process the rules do not even begin to contemplate. This ambiguity renders the right to erasure virtually meaningless, leaving the individual's digital ghost to persist indefinitely in the ether, vulnerable to State retrieval at a whim.

The rules' "reasonable security safeguards" for the State, as outlined in Rule 6 and the Second Schedule, are a list of best practices devoid of any meaningful, auditable enforcement mechanism against the sovereign. While a private data fiduciary faces the Data Protection Board's sanctions for a breach, who audits the State's own data warehouses? The State is exempt from the very accountability it imposes on others.

The Indian government is amassing one of the world's most extensive and sensitive biometric and demographic databases. The framework does not impose a stringent, independent, and transparent obligation on the State to fortify this treasure trove against foreign intelligence agencies or cybercriminals. Instead, rule 15 concerning international transfers focuses only on restricting data fiduciaries, while the State itself operates under an opaque set of rules. The State's 'schutzstaffel', or protection force, is not a paramilitary force, but its digital infrastructure empowered by this legal framework.

The DPDP rules gesticulate vigorously towards the real and present dangers posed by Big Tech, while quietly institutionalising the most comprehensive surveillance apparatus independent India has ever contemplated. It fails the test of technological rigour by speaking in the vague language of a bygone digital era. The individual is left with a parchment guarantee against private entities, while their digital soul is rendered as a permanently accessible asset of the State.

HUMAN SIDE OF ONLINE LEARNING

MAMIDALA JAGADESH KUMAR

Former Chairman, UGC and former Vice Chancellor, JNU

TEACHERS, peer connection, informal conversations, and campus life are essential to a student. However, when we think of online higher education, it is not uncommon to face one pertinent question: do online students miss out on experiences that campus environments provide? Critics of digital education warn that students may become disconnected from peers and become isolated learners in virtual classrooms. Are these apprehensions valid, or is there a more hopeful way of addressing such doubts?

Cognitive research suggests that group cohesion—the sense of belonging within a learning community—remains intact when classrooms transition to virtual learning. Carefully designed digital programmes can create new kinds of bonds. Researchers at the University of Hong Kong found that students in online collaborative projects exhibited levels of trust and participation comparable to, and in some cases even stronger than, those in physical classrooms. Psychologists refer to this as 'group efficacy'.

Team-building activities play a central role in technology-enabled programmes. Debates, solving problems together, or making shared notes are easy to integrate into the online activities. These help students feel connected, more confident, and responsible for their part in the group. Studies in Taiwan have shown that when students work closely in such structured online groups, each person's performance improves. A sense of "we can succeed together" often translates into the personal belief of "I can succeed too".

This belief is particularly relevant to India today. According to the latest All India Survey on Higher Education, gross enrolment in post-secondary education has reached 28.4 percent. The National Education Policy, 2020 aims to push this to 50 percent by 2035. Traditional campuses cannot carry this load alone. Expanding access to half of India's youth would be challenging without virtual platforms.

Globally, interest in online programmes is increasing. A Unesco study predicts that cross-border student mobility will increase by a factor of two by 2030. Not all students can travel abroad. Online degrees with global recognition are the next frontier. In India, the University Grants Commission has already approved over 100 universities to offer fully online degrees with the same status as offline ones. The Swayam platform has registered more than 3.5 crore learners. With quality design support, India can attract thousands of learners from developing nations, too.

However, concerns about losing social and intellectual growth in online settings linger. In physical classrooms, students can lead discussions and work in teams. Can we ensure that these exposures can be replicated in virtual classrooms? Recent research says yes. Students do not feel isolated when universities invest in virtual mentorship circles, breakout discussions, and interactive projects. On the contrary, they can feel more exposed to diversity. A learner in Kerala can team up with another in Punjab, moderated by a teacher in Delhi, while contributing to a project with a student joining in from Singapore.

PTI

> Virtual learning works well when digital modules are designed to foster team cohesion and interaction. If we want to expand the reach of higher education, we have to embrace online learning. An online-only IIT Madras course drew in a large number of students from far-flung places

India is uniquely placed to lead this change. Our digital public infrastructure has already transformed how we perceive identity and finance. Teachers are accessing high-quality resources on platforms like Diksha or Digital Infrastructure for Knowledge Sharing. The same approach can shape online higher education. AI-adaptive tools can track a student's performance real-time. It can then adjust the level of complexity. This moderation is impossible in a lecture hall with a large number of students. Intelligent systems also support group projects. AI can ensure balanced teams by pairing students with complementary strengths in virtual platforms.

None of this means virtual classrooms do not have hurdles. Universities need to design online courses that are engaging. The responsibility is clear: online learners should not be treated as passive participants. Course instructors must build virtual communities where students become engaged through shared learning. Teachers should know how to manage online discussions and encourage student participation. Assessments must include collaborative exercises. Otherwise, students may log in, watch a lecture, but not learn much.

Take an example from IIT Madras. In 2021, it launched an online BSc course in data science, the first fully-online degree programme offered by an IIT. Many thought such a step might dilute the prestige of the IIT brand. The opposite happened. Within two years, more than 17,000 students had enrolled, including those from metros as well as towns and villages. Some were working professionals, some school-leavers, and others mid-career learners seeking to upskill.

What is the larger implication for India? Expanding access to tertiary education is about creating citizens who can think critically, debate respectfully, and collaborate effectively in both physical and digital worlds. We can use virtual classrooms to prepare our youth for an increasingly complex world.

Do students lose a lot when they enrol for online programmes? Academic findings and experiments suggest otherwise. With group cohesion, team-building, and the intelligent use of AI, online learning can build confident, thoughtful, and networked students. It's not an inferior path. It's a different path that defines the future of Indian higher education.

● Proposed cess will be levied only on demerit goods but Oppn says it will revive 'inspector raj' ● Sitharaman accuses TMC of stalling development in Bengal

Health bill in LS amid Oppn demand for select panel

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

AMID concerns by the opposition, Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman moved the Health Security and National Security Cess Bill, 2025, in Lok Sabha on Thursday, asserting that the proposed cess will be levied only on demerit goods, like pan masala, and not on essential commodities, and revenue from the levy will be shared with states for spending on health schemes.

The purpose of the bill is to create a 'dedicated and predictable resource stream' for two domains of national importance — health and national security, said Sitharaman. "This is a cess, and it is placed not on any essential commodity. We wish to impose such a cost so that it is a deterrent, so people tend not to use it," she said.

Sitharaman said pan masala will be taxed at the maximum 40% rate under Goods and Services Tax (GST) based on its consumption, and there will be no impact of this cess on GST revenues. However, participating in the debate on the Bill, several opposition MPs demanded that the bill should be sent to a select committee, voicing concerns that it will hurt the MSME sector and revive 'inspector raj'.

Accusing the Centre of relying excessively on cesses to raise revenue, DMK MP Sumathi termed it as "cessification of governance, not justification of governance".

Sumathi pointed out that the finance minister herself noted how sharply cess revenues have risen. "Ambedkar had warned that good intentions are of no value if the instruments are flawed. This bill is precisely that —good intentions trapped in a flawed instrument," she said and claimed that MSMEs would be hit the hardest by it.

Opening the debate in the Lower House, Congress MP Varun Chaudhary warned the proposed legislation would revive "inspector raj" and that a capacity-based cess would increase bureaucratic interference.TMC MP Saugata Roy questioned whether the cess would deter the pan masala industry, as he noted its enormous profits. He argued that government was "so desperate for funds" that it was now depending on demerit goods to finance national security.

"You need money. The Parliament building cost ₹20,000 crore; the PM's 'Sewa Teerth' will cost hundreds of crores. Now, for that, take money from pan masala? The government is thinking on two lines: on one hand, it spends money like water on unnecessary buildings; on the other, it taxes pan masala to fund security," Roy said.

POWER CORRIDOR

FIX THE PROBLEM, SAYS OPPN ON HIGH AQI

Various opposition MPs on Thursday staged a protest in Parliament complex over the issue of air pollution in the capital, with Congress leader Sonia Gandhi asking the government to take action. Carrying placards they raised slogans outside the Makar Dwar of Parliament asking the Prime Minister to stop making statements and fix the problem. Some of the MPs also wore masks at the protest to highlight the problem of air pollution. They also carried a big banner that said 'mausam ka mazaa lijiye' (Enjoy the weather) carrying a picture of the PM, who had made these remarks at the start of the Winter session of Parliament. Protesting MPs of various parties also raised slogans that read - "Make polluters pay, not citizens', 'Air quality - action now', 'Don't choke our future', 'Clean air is a right, not a luxury'.

20% NOT ELIGIBLE FOR CASHLESS TREATMENT

Out of the total 6,833 treatment requests raised by road accident victims under the Cashless Treatment of Road Accident Victims Scheme so far, only 5,480 victims have been found eligible, and the remaining 1,353 cases (nearly 20%) have been rejected by the police, Parliament was informed on Thursday. Union Minister of Road Transport and Highways Nitin Gadkari, in a written reply to Lok Sabha, said the total fund disbursed under the Motor Vehicle Accident Fund is ₹73.88 lakh. "Out of the total number of 6,833 treatment requests raised, 5,480 victims have been found eligible. The remaining cases have been rejected by police," Gadkari said.

62 STUDENTS DENIED US ENTRY IN 5 YEARS

Sixty-two Indian students have been denied entry to the US by foreign immigration authorities in the last five years, according to data shared by the Centre in Parliament on Thursday. Minister of State for External Affairs Kirti Vardhan Singh, in a written response to a query in Rajya Sabha, also shared country-wise data on Indian students deported from several countries over this period. Singh said that in several cases, "entry of Indian students had been denied on account of their carrying incomplete or inappropriate admission documents from their varsities, failing the administrative process, or for being unable to answer basic questions.

Upper House green light to excise policy to curb tobacco consumption

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

PARLIAMENT on Thursday passed the Central Excise (Amendment) Bill, 2025, after the Rajya Sabha approved it and returned it to the Lok Sabha. The Bill amends the Central Excise Act, 1944, with the key objective of increasing excise duties and cess on multiple tobacco products, including cigarettes, cigars, hookah tobacco, chewing tobacco, zarda and scented tobacco.

Replying to the discussion on the Bill, Union Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman accused the West Bengal government of obstructing the state's development despite receiving full assistance from the Centre. She insisted that the Centre had never neglected West Bengal.

"In fact, it is the Trinamool Congress (TMC) government that is hurting the growth of the people of West Bengal," she said while responding to points raised by TMC members. Referring to health coverage, she reminded the House that West Bengal withdrew from the Ayushman Bharat scheme in January 2019, adding, "Is that good for the people of Bengal?"

Sitharaman said industries were steadily leaving West Bengal and listed several indicators of the Centre's contributions. She noted that AIIMS Kalyani had been established and 11 medical colleges were approved under the Centrally Sponsored Scheme. She added that West Bengal received a record railway budget allocation of ₹13,955 crore for 2025–26, more than three times the 2009–14 average outlay of ₹4,380 crore. In addition, 101 Amrit Stations are being developed in the state at a cost of ₹3,847.5 crore.

The minister said that 1,650 km of railway lines had been electrified, bringing total electrification in Bengal to over 98%. She informed the House that more than 2,300 km of National Highways had been built since 2014. Responding to concerns raised by TMC MP Sagarika Ghose about the Central Road and Infrastructure Fund (CRIF), Sitharaman said that transfers had not been halted.

Opposition upset at V-P rejecting all notices under Rule 267

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

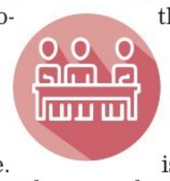
RAJYA Sabha Chairman C P Radhakrishnan on Thursday clarified in detail on the scope and permissible use of Rule 267, stressing that the provision cannot be invoked to raise matters unrelated to the day's listed agenda. His remarks come amid a sharp rise in notices from Opposition MPs seeking to suspend scheduled business and take up other issues.



Throughout the ongoing winter session, all notices moved under Rule 267 have been rejected by the Chair for failing to meet the requirements of the rule. On Wednesday, he turned down two more such notices and said the rule was being misused through "routine notices" intended to suspend the day's business.

Radhakrishnan underlined that Rule 267 cannot be equated with an adjournment motion in the Lok Sabha, which is explicitly permitted under Article 75(3) of the Constitution. "There is no constitutional or procedural provision authorising Rajya Sabha Members to give any adjournment notice in any manner... A notice must specify the rule sought to be suspended and include a properly drafted motion. Any notice concerning a matter outside the List of Business is invalid," he said.

Responding to the explanation, LoP Mallikarjun Kharge said MPs turn to Rule 267 because "there is no chance of getting a short-duration or even a short notice question." He added, "We are not getting the opportunity to discuss important things immediately... the government is avoiding."

Leader of the House JP Nadda disagreed, saying the government had not avoided any discussion and was prepared for "every topic".

'Shame': Trial against accused of acid attack pending before court for 16 yrs

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @ New Delhi

STUNNED to learn from an acid attack survivor that the trial against her accused has been pending for 16 years, the Supreme Court described the situation as "a national shame" that makes "a mockery of the system." The Court directed all High Courts to furnish details of pending acid attack cases within four weeks.

"If the national capital cannot handle such a situation, then who will? This is such a shame! This (the delay in criminal trial) is a mockery of the system," remarked a two-judge bench of the apex court headed by Chief Justice Surya Kant and Justice Joymalya Bagchi on Thursday.

The victim's lawyer detailed the 2009 attack on his client and informed the Court that many other similar cases were still pending. "There are others who are made to drink acid, and they suffer equally. They are made to eat food through the food pipe."

Hearing this, an outraged CJI Kant asked whether the trial against the person who attacked the petitioner was still pending. The lawyer replied that the criminal trial is continuing before a Rohini court in New Delhi.

The CJI observed that such an extraordinary delay in concluding the trial reflected a shameful state of affairs. Subsequently, in its order, the Bench sought nationwide information about all pending trials involving acid attack victims and listed the matter for further hearing next week.

"Issue notice. We direct the Registrar General of all High Courts to furnish details of all pending trials in matters concerning acid attack victims," the Court said in its order.

During the hearing, Solicitor General of India (SG) Tushar Mehta, who was present in the courtroom, concurred with the Court's concerns and said that perpetrators should be dealt with the same ruthlessness they exhibited. No agency can oppose this, he added.

The court asked the acid attack survivor to file an application. "Tell us why the trial has not been completed since 2009. We will take suo motu cognizance,!" CJI Kant said.

Ensure 30% quota for women lawyers

The Supreme Court on Thursday in its order asked the Bar Council of India (BCI) to ensure 30 per cent reservation for women in the upcoming state bar council elections. BCI told the top court that implementing such a reservation would require making amendments to the Advocates Act.

'No excessive power to EC in ONOE Bill'

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

AT a meeting with the parliamentary panel on 'One nation, one election', the Law Commission said that the proposed power to the Election Commission that seeks to lay a legal framework to hold 'simultaneous polls to the Lok Sabha and state assemblies' is not excessive. However, the provision of giving 'unfettered power' to the EC in the proposed legislation has come under criticism from various quarters.

The law panel top brass briefed the Joint Committee of Parliament examining the Bills on simultaneous elections to the Lok Sabha and state assemblies. During the briefing, members said the law panel also noted that the Constitution Amendment Bill does not require ratification by at least 50 per cent of the state assemblies to come into force.

According to sources, Opposition MPs questioned the law commission officials on the constitutionality and adherence to the federal spirit in the Bill.The law commission officials briefed the committee members but were not able to give a satisfactory answer to the questions, an opposition MP said.

Another opposition MP said during the meeting that elections at regular intervals provide a system of checks and balances, as after the Lok Sabha, the people can review their choices in the assembly elections, but this would not be there if simultaneous polls happen. The MP said that voters are the basis of democracy and elections at regular intervals strengthen democracy.

According to an opinion rendered by the law commission to the joint panel, it has "not even an iota of doubt" that the proposed Article 82A(5) does not suffer from excessive delegation. Regarding the proposed legislation's impact on the tenure of the House and state legislative assemblies, the commission argued that the bill introduces only a limited and rational curtailment, which does not infringe the basic structure in any manner.

The power conferred upon the EC to recommend postponement of elections is neither arbitrary nor unbounded; rather, it flows naturally from the plenary constitutional authority that has been vested in the EC under Article 324, the law panel has said. The law panel underlined that the proposed amendment does not disturb the basic structure of the Constitution in any way. The commission said federalism as envisaged and formulated in the Indian Constitution is not that of compartmentalisation of different units; it is rather that of weaving different units together with a strong centre as the pivot.

PANEL ARGUES

The Law Commission of India told Joint Parliamentary Committee that the One Nation, One Election proposal aligns with constitutional principles and it doesn't affect the Basic Structure of the Constitution

- ONOE Bill does not violate the Constitution's Basic Structure
- Affirms Parliament's power to enact ONOE within Basic Structure limits
- Voting is a statutory right, so synchronising elections does not affect it
- Bill's limited curtailment of House tenures stays within constitutional bounds
- India's union-dominant quasi-federal setup remains untouched by ONOE
- Emphasises House's explicit constitutional authority to legislate on all elections
- State ratification isn't needed, it doesn't amend federal norms
- Dismisses constitutional concerns, calling the bill sound and legally well-grounded
- ECI already has wide powers under Article 324, validating clauses 82A(3) and 82A(5)
- Article 324's "reservoir of power" covers all functions proposed in the Bill

Rahul's remarks on foreign leaders 'not true'

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

LEADER of the Opposition in Lok Sabha Rahul Gandhi on Thursday alleged that the government tells visiting foreign dignitaries not to meet the Leader of the Opposition due to its "insecurity".

The remarks came hours before Russian President Vladimir Putin arrived in Delhi. Putin is on a two-day visit to India. Gandhi said it is a tradition that visiting foreign dignitaries meet the LoP, but Prime Minister Modi and the Ministry of External Affairs were not following this norm.

"This used to happen during Atal Bihari Vajpayee ji's time and Manmohan Singh ji's time; it has been a tradition, but what happens these days is that when foreign dignitaries come and when I go abroad, the government suggests to them to not meet the LoP," Gandhi said.

"We get the message that they have been told that the government has said 'not to meet you'," he added.

Highlighting the importance of such meetings, he said the LoP gives another perspective. We also represent India; only the government does not represent India. Modi ji does not follow these norm; the foreign ministry does not follow this norm," Gandhi said without naming Putin. Asked why the government was doing so, he said, "It is their insecurity."

Congress general secretary in charge of organisation K C Venugopal said the LoP meeting foreign dignitaries visiting India is a time-tested democratic tradition so that India's international engagement is deeper and more meaningful.

"But those who only wish to speak their own Man ki Baat clearly have no regard for these traditions that serve as important pillars of our foreign policy engagement," Venugopal said on X.

Though there was no official response from the government, sources said that MEA organises meetings for the incoming dignitary with government officials and government bodies during a visit. It is up to the visiting delegation to organise meetings outside the government, said the source.

The source also cited at least six instances of Gandhi's meetings with visiting dignitaries since he became the Leader of the Opposition on June 9, 2024.

Awareness drive to make India free of child marriage by 2030 launched

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

TO reduce prevalence of child marriages to 10% by 2026 and to make India child marriage free by 2030, a 100-day 'intensive awareness campaign for a child marriage-free Bharat' was launched on Thursday by Women and Child Development (WCD) Minister Annapurna Devi. The campaign will focus on targeted outreach each month: beginning with schools and colleges, followed by religious institutions and service providers, and culminating with local self-governments.

Speaking at the launch of the intensive awareness campaign, which will run till March 8, celebrated as International Women's Day, Devi said, "Child marriage snatches childhood away from daughters and pushes them towards early maternity and unimaginable suffering." She stressed that the country must adopt "zero tolerance" towards child marriage and urged states, civil society groups, and community leaders to unite with an "unwavering commitment" to eliminate the practice.

She said though India has made "historic progress," far more remains to be done. "Even one child marriage is unacceptable for us," she said. The minister traced the journey from the Sarda Act, 1929 to the Prohibition of Child Marriage Act, 2006, noting that the legal framework had become stronger over the decades, yet harmful social norms persisted. "Child marriage is not just a violation of the law. It takes away a daughter's childhood and pushes her towards early maternity and unimaginable suffering,"she said.

WCD Secretary, Anil Malik, said that laws alone cannot eradicate the practice, child marriage "a crime against humanity".

After JMM's review call over Bihar rout, INDIA bloc signals unity

Soren meets allies amid buzz over change of guard

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

PUTTING an end to speculation that Jharkhand's political equations might change in the coming days, the INDIA bloc in the state displayed unity during a meeting of alliance partners conducted by CM Hemant Soren on Thursday.

The meeting, held ahead of the Winter Session of Jharkhand Assembly beginning December 5, was significant because rumours had circulated after Soren and his MLA wife, Kalpana Soren, visited Delhi, claiming they had allegedly met senior BJP leaders. These reports suggested dissatisfaction within the Jharkhand Mukti Morcha (JMM) over the performance of its allies, the Congress and the RJD, in the recent Bihar polls.

The concerns had intensified after the JMM's decision to withdraw from the 2025 Bihar elections, citing what it called a "political conspiracy" by its allies in Bihar. Days after the Mahagathbandhan's rout in the polls, JMM general secretary Vinod Pandey said that it was time to review the alliance "not only in Jharkhand, but at the central level too."

However, after the Thursday meeting, sources said the coalition is focused on governance and the upcoming Assembly session. All four ministers from the Congress quota, along with Jharkhand in-charge K Raju and state Congress president Keshav Mahto Kamlesh, attended the meeting.

"All the 16 MLAs will be present during the Winter Session of Jharkhand Assembly and put the questions in the interest of the people of the state," said State Congress Chief Keshav Mahto. Finance and Parliamentary Affairs Minister Radhakrishna Kishore said the speculation about a change in power had been proven baseless.

He added, "Prime Minister Narendra Modi recently stated during the winter session of Parliament that the Lok Sabha is a place for delivery, not drama. BJP MLAs should also keep this in mind."

Agriculture Minister Shilpi Neha Tirkey said they would not allow the BJP narrative to succeed. Health Minister Dr Irnan Ansari said the BJP had "no issues to raise" and had resorted to drama. JMM ministers and MLAs, however, avoided speaking to the media.

Whispers of dissatisfaction within JMM grow loud

The meeting, held ahead of Winter Session of Jharkhand Assembly, comes amid speculation about Soren and his MLA wife, Kalpana Soren, visiting Delhi and claiming they had met senior BJP leaders. These reports suggested dissatisfaction within the JMM over the performance of its allies, the Congress and the RJD, in the Bihar polls.

TMC chief says BJP playing religious politics over SIR ahead of polls

No NRC, detention camps in Bengal: Didi ups ante

SUBHENDU MAITI @ Kolkata

CONTINUING her attack on the BJP over the special intensive revision (SIR) of electoral rolls, West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee on Thursday said she would never allow National Register of Citizens (NRC) in the state.

"I will not allow NRC or detention camps in Bengal. Even if they slit my throat, no one will be driven out. If anyone is removed, we will bring them back legally. Bengal will remain safe and inclusive," Banerjee said, while addressing an anti-SIR rally in Behrampore of minority-majority district Murshidabad district.

The TMC chief claimed that NRC was the real intent behind the SIR. She alleged that the EC pushed the SIR to create panic, claiming that had her government blocked the exercise, the Centre would have imposed President's Rule in the state. She said the state was "not foolish enough to walk into the trap" and urged people not to fear the enumeration exercise but to simply file their documents.

"The BJP is indulging in religious politics over SIR ahead of assembly elections. More than half of those who died in SIR-related incidents were Hindus. Don't cut the very branch you are sitting on," she said. Her remarks came a day after she accused Union Home Minister Amit Shah of "orchestrating" SIR to unsettle voters and "capture Bengal by trickery".

Turning to the Waqf controversy, Banerjee said, "For days, some miscreants have been spreading lies about waqf properties. Nothing has been reclassified. Not one Waqf property will be taken away." Clarifying that data of nearly 82,000 waqf properties already existed on the Centre's portal, she said, "We passed a resolution in the Assembly that Waqf properties cannot be taken forcefully. Mutawallis (custodians of waqf property) will upload the documents and give them to the state. There is nothing to fear."

Her comments came amid renewed heat after the state government instructed district magistrates to upload Waqf data to the Centre's UMEED portal by the December 6 deadline, a move critics say signals a climbdown from her earlier opposition to the amended Waqf Act.

TMC suspends MLA Kabir firm on 'Babri masjid'

The TMC on Thursday suspended its MLA Humayun Kabir, who is firm on his proposal to build a mosque modelled on Babri Masjid in Murshidabad. "Humayun Kabir has been suspended from the party for communal politics," state minister Firhad Hakim said. After the action, Kabir said, "I will resign from the party on Friday and float a new political platform to fight against the communal forces."

HC grants bail to former DU prof Hany Babu in Bhima Koregaon case

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

THE Bombay High Court on Thursday granted bail to former Delhi University professor Hany Babu, an accused in the 2018 Bhima Koregaon-Elgar Parishad case, on the grounds of incarceration of over five years without trial. A division bench of Justices A S Gadkari and R R Bhonsale ordered release of Babu on furnishing a personal bond of ₹1 lakh with sureties of the same amount.

The NIA urged the HC to stay the order so that an appeal could be filed in the Supreme Court but it was rejected citing the length of time Babu, 59, had spent behind bars and also that the trial was "not likely to complete soon". The NIA had arrested Babu, a resident of Gautam Buddha Nagar in UP, in July 2020. He has since been lodged in Taloja prison. Babu's counsel Yug Mohit Chaudhary argued for bail on the basis that charges have yet to be framed and a discharge application is still pending before the trial court. Chaudhry had said eight co-accused were released on bail by the Supreme Court or the HC, so Babu was also entitled to seek bail on the ground of prolonged incarceration without trial.

The NIA has accused Babu of being a co-conspirator in propagating Maoist activities. The case relates to inciting people and giving provocative speeches during an Elgar Parishad event organised by the Kabir Kala Manch at Shaniwarwada in Pune on December 31, 2017.

Three still in jail

The Elgar Parishad case has seen the arrest of 16 people accused of furthering the cause of the banned CPI (Maoist). Lawyer Surendra Gadling and cultural activists Sagar Gorkhe and Ramesh Gaichor are among those yet to secure bail in the case.

Bodies of 6 more Maoists found after encounter

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur

SECURITY forces engaged in anti-Maoist operations along the Bijapur–Dantewada inter-district border have recovered the bodies of six more Maoist cadres, taking the toll of Naxalites killed in the gunfight to 18.

Three personnel of the District Reserve Guard, a unit of the state police, were also killed in the encounter, which took place on Wednesday. Following a prolonged intermittent exchange of fire that lasted for around 12 hours, bodies of 12 Naxalites were recovered till late Wednesday evening, Bastar Range IGP Sundarraj Pattilingam said. Six more bodies were found till Thursday morning during a search in the area.

"The bodies of 18 Maoists, including nine female cadres, and huge quantities of weapons & explosive materials were recovered by forces during the search operation," Pattilingam said, adding that it was a decisive breakthrough. Owing to strong coordination among the police, paramilitary security forces and various stakeholders, the anti-Maoist operations in the region have become even more effective, the IG added.

Biren warns of existential crisis, tribes flag illegal influx

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

FORMER Manipur CM N Biren Singh has warned of an existential crisis for the state, highlighting the destruction of forests for poppy plantations. He shared a video on X, showing purported poppy plantations in Kuki-majority Kangpokpi.

"This video recorded today (Wednesday) shows why recurrent floods have taken place in the state. The footage shows poppy plantation at Kolten and Selsi Hill Ranges of IT-Road under T Waichong Sub-division in Kangpokpi district," he posted. "All our forest(s) have been destroyed while we are trying to pull each other down. None of our leaders has spoken out against such wide-scale devastation," he said. He asked why forest department officials did not take action.

The Joint Tribes Council Manipur (JTCM) on Thursday petitioned PM Narendra Modi, drawing his attention to the unchecked illegal migration and its far-reaching consequences on the indigenous population, social security, and demographic balance of Manipur.

"In recent years, Manipur has witnessed a growing influx of illegal migrants from war-torn Myanmar and from Indian states where NRC exercise is being implemented. This continuous inflow has strained local resources and now poses a serious threat to cultural identity, economic stability, and traditional livelihoods of native indigenous communities in Manipur," the JTCM said in a memorandum submitted to Modi through the governor.

The JTCM is a conglomerate of Liangmai Naga Council, Rongmei Naga Council, Zeme Naga Council and Inpui Naga Union. It claimed that the situation was critical along the major highways. "Many of these settlements have links to mass deforestations for illicit activity – large-scale poppy cultivation. Several militant groups are known to protect these villages," the JTCM alleged.

The JTCM claimed that there had been a consistent increase in Manipur's Kuki population between 1951 and 2011.

Raj govt replaces jail term for minor violations with monetary penalties

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

THE Rajasthan Cabinet on Wednesday approved the Rajasthan Jan Vishwas Ordinance, a major reform aimed at reducing litigation and promoting greater "ease of living" and "ease of doing business" in the state. Modelled on the Centre's Jan Vishwas (Amendment of Provisions) Act, 2023, the ordinance seeks to replace jail terms with monetary penalties for minor or technical violations under 11 state laws.

According to Parliamentary Affairs Minister Jogaram Patel, the measure is designed to ease compliance, curb unnecessary criminal proceedings, and foster trust among citizens, businesses, and regulatory authorities. The Cabinet also cleared the Rajasthan Public Trust (Amendment of Provisions) Ordinance, 2025, which forms a key part of these reforms.

Significant amendments include changes to the Forest Act, where the earlier provision of imprisonment for grazing cattle on forest land has been removed. Only fines and compensation for damage will now apply, a move the government says will particularly benefit tribal and rural communities that often face criminal charges for unintentional entry into forest areas.

Under the Industrial Units Act, minor procedural lapses—such as failing to produce documents during inspections—will no longer attract jail terms. Instead, financial penalties will be imposed, offering relief to MSMEs and reducing the fear of an inspector raj. Similar changes have been introduced in the Jaipur Water Supply and Sewerage Board Act, where offences such as water wastage or unauthorised connections will now only lead to fines. Faster resolution of cases will minimise business disruptions and enhance compliance.

U'khand highly vulnerable, says new seismic map

NARENDRA SETHI @ Dehradun

THE Bureau of Indian Standards (BIS) has issued a new seismic map, placing the entire Uttarakhand, including its plains and mountainous regions, into Seismic Zone 6—the highest category for earthquake vulnerability.

This drastic revision supersedes the previous classification, which had divided the state between Zone 4 and Zone 5. The new classification signals that any future seismic event could cause uniform, high-level damage across all parts of Uttarakhand.

The shift mandates a complete overhaul of infrastructure development policies, as the state must now adhere to stringent, unified building codes. An officer familiar with the development strategy said, "The implication of being placed entirely in Zone 6 is that infrastructure damage, should an earthquake strike, will be uniform across every region."

Previously, the older building bylaws offered slight concessions for development in areas classified under Zone 4. With the entire state now under the most severe classification, building codes must be standardised to withstand the highest seismic risks, potentially up to magnitude 8.

This presents a formidable financial challenge for Uttarakhand, which already operates under constrained economic resources. Developing infrastructure—including roads, bridges, government offices, and schools—to withstand such powerful tremors will require significant capital investment.

State Disaster Management Secretary, Vinod Kumar Suman, confirmed the gravity of the situation. "In the older map, parts of Uttarakhand were in Zone 4 and some in Zone 5. The newly issued map places the entire state in Zone 6, making the state significantly more vulnerable to earthquakes and disasters."

Suman emphasised the immediate steps required. "This involves amending the Building Bylaws. The Housing Department and the Central Building Research Institute (CBRI) in Roorkee will collaborate on this. We also need to focus on public training and awareness regarding protective measures and structural design."

Housing Department Principal Secretary R Meenakshi Sundaram clarified the existing regulations, noting that even under the older norms, earthquake-resistant technology was mandatory based on location, not just height. "People often incorrectly associate sensitivity only with multi-story buildings. If you are in a sensitive zone, you must build earthquake-resistant structures," Sundaram stated.

SHIFTING SCENARIO

- BIS has reclassified all of Uttarakhand into Seismic Zone 6, the highest earthquake-vulnerability category
- This new map replaces the earlier split between Zones 4 and 5, implying uniformly high seismic risk statewide
- The shift requires a complete overhaul of infrastructure policies and unified, stringent building codes
- Officials warn that earthquake damage could now be uniformly severe across plains and mountains

Putin flags 'unacceptable' terms in US plan amid renewed bid to end war

Key differences remain on borders and how Ukraine will be shielded from future attacks

MOSCOW

RUSSIAN President Vladimir Putin says some proposals in a US plan to end the war in Ukraine are unacceptable to the Kremlin, indicating in comments published Thursday that any deal is still some ways off.

US President Donald Trump has set in motion the most intense diplomatic push to stop the fighting since Russia launched the full-scale invasion of its neighbor nearly four years ago. But the effort has once again run into demands that are hard to reconcile, especially over whether Ukraine must give up land to Russia and how it can be kept safe from any future aggression by Moscow.

Trump's special envoy, Steve Witkoff, and son-in-law Jared Kushner, are set to meet with Ukraine's lead negotiator, Rustem Umerov, later Thursday in Miami for further talks, according to a senior Trump administration official who wasn't authorised to comment publicly and spoke on condition of anonymity. Putin said his five-hour talks Tuesday in the Kremlin with Witkoff and Kushner were "necessary" and "useful," but also "difficult work," and some proposals were unacceptable.

Putin spoke to the India Today TV channel before he landed Thursday in New Delhi for a state visit. Ahead of the broadcast of the full interview, Russian state news agencies Tass and RIA Novosti quoted some of his remarks in it.

Tass quoted Putin as saying that in Tuesday's talks, the sides "had to go through each point" of the US peace proposal, "which is why it took so long." "This was a necessary conversation, a very concrete one," he said, with provisions that Moscow was ready to discuss, while others "we can't agree to." Trump said Wednesday that Witkoff and Kushner came away from their marathon session confident that he wants to find an end to the war.

"Their impression was very strongly that he'd like to make a deal," he added. Putin refused to elaborate on what Russia could accept or reject, and none of the other officials involved offered details of the talks.

"I think it is premature. Because it could simply disrupt the working regime" of the peace effort, Tass quoted Putin as saying. European leaders, left on the sidelines by Washington as US officials engage directly with Moscow and Kyiv, have accused Putin of feigning interest in Trump's peace drive.

The Kherson Thermal Power Plant, which provides heat for over 40,000 residents, shut down Thursday after Russia pounded it with drones and artillery for several days, he said. Authorities planned emergency meetings to find alternate sources of heating, he said. Until then, tents were erected across the city where residents could warm up and charge electronic devices. AP

UK sanctions GRU over Salisbury attack

LONDON: Britain on Thursday sanctioned Russia's Main Directorate of the General Staff of the Russian Armed Forces (GRU) and summoned Moscow's ambassador after an inquiry blamed Vladimir Putin for the 2018 nerve agent attack in Salisbury. Former spy Sergei Skripal and his daughter were poisoned with Novichok and survived, but British citizen Dawn Sturgess later died after exposure from a discarded perfume bottle. The inquiry said the operation was authorised at the highest level. Russia denied involvement and dismissed Skripal as irrelevant.

Thai hostage's body returned from Gaza under ceasefire deal

JERUSALEM

Remains that militants in Gaza handed to Israel as part of the first phase of the ceasefire deal were those of a Thai agricultural worker, Israeli and Thai officials said Thursday. The return of Sudthisak Rinthalak's remains leaves just one more hostage to be returned under the agreement.

Sudthisak was an agricultural worker who had been employed at Kibbutz Be'eri, one of the hardest-hit communities in the attack. Israeli officials said the 42-year-old was killed on Oct. 7, 2023, during the Hamas-led attack in Israel that triggered the Israel-Hamas war and that his body was taken by the militant group Islamic Jihad. He was officially declared dead on May 16, 2024.

Sudthisak's remains were returned Wednesday, a day after militants handed over remains that didn't match either of the last two hostages.

Thai Foreign Ministry spokesperson Nikorndej Balankura said Sudthisak's family has been notified and thanked the Israeli government for assistance that led to the release of all 31 Thai hostages taken at the start of the war. Of those, 28 were returned alive and three dead.

Thais were the largest group of foreigners to be held in captivity. The Thai Foreign Ministry has said in addition to the hostages, 46 Thais have been killed during the war.

Israeli Ran Gvili is now the last hostage whose remains have yet to be returned. Gvili was an Israeli police officer who helped people escape from the Nova music festival during the Oct. 7 attack and was killed fighting at another location. Since the October 10 start of the ceasefire, 20 living hostages and the remains of 27 others have been returned to Israel.

Sea Wall Works to Resume in 2026

The provincial government has set aside funds to resume work on the giant coastal protection project in 2026, covering new sections in Pluit, Muara Angke and Kali Lencong, the governor said. By next year, 11.8 km of the planned 28.2-km wall will have been completed, with another 1.2 km targeted this year and next. Authorities said progress on sections handled by the central government is urgent. A key embankment finished earlier cost Rp52 billion. The project aims to curb tidal flooding and protect low-lying coastal districts from rising sea levels.

Half of NSE 500 stocks trading 30% below peak levels

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

MORE than half of the companies in the NSE 500 index are currently trading at least 30% below their all-time peak levels, with many stocks continuing to hit fresh lows. This occurs even as the benchmark indices — the BSE Sensex and NSE Nifty50 — reached record highs in recent sessions. According to market experts, the rally in the market is primarily led by select bluechips while the overall sentiment, especially in the small-cap segment, remains muted.

Investors should shift their focus towards value buying, where there is better visibility and a capital safety

Kkunal V. Parar of Choice Broking

"There isn't one single trigger behind this fall. A combination of sector-wise cyclical moves, profit-booking, the ongoing US–India tariff tensions, and a weakening rupee has contributed to the pressure, despite the Nifty benchmark itself hitting new highs," said Kkunal V. Parar, Vice-President of Technical Research and Algo, Choice Broking. He advised that at current levels, investors should shift their focus towards value buying, where there is better visibility and a sense of capital safety.

As per an analysis of NSE 500 stocks, there are a handful of stocks that have fallen more than half from their 52-week highs. Stocks like Ola Electric, TARIL, Isolation Energy, ZENTEC and PGEL have taken a big beating in the last 1 year.

Analysis of market activity indicates that small-cap stocks are facing the highest selling pressure among segments. While the benchmark Nifty50 and the Nifty Midcap 100 both reached new record highs earlier this week, the Nifty Smallcap 100 continues to lag significantly. In 2025, the small-cap index remains down by more than 6% and is still over 10% below its previous all-time high of 19,761 Prar of Choice Broking said that the coming year is expected to stay highly volatile, with the Union Budget in February, four key state elections, and global uncertainty around the tariff dispute likely to influence sentiment.

"These factors may create phases of weakness, but investors can use this volatility to accumulate quality stocks — only where long-term fundamentals remain strong. It is better to stay away from companies with poor financials or unclear visibility, rather than getting trapped in long periods of underperformance and losing opportunity cost," he added. Despite the downturn, the NSE 500 pack is showing signs of a revival on hopes of better earnings by mid-cap stocks.

RBI's dilemma: ₹ stability or growth?

With rupee on a free fall, experts feel MPC may prioritise currency stability over growth

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

THE Reserve Bank of India's monetary policy announcement on Friday is shaping up to be the toughest test yet for Governor Sanjay Malhotra in his first year at the helm. The MPC under him is navigating a rare trilemma: robust economic growth, a sharply weakening rupee, and inflation at multi-decade lows — conditions that ordinarily would have pointed to further monetary easing.

Complicating the policy calculus further is the unusually wide gap between the overnight repo rate and benchmark 10-year bond yields — now at 100-110 basis points, the highest ever — signalling tight liquidity conditions.

Despite this, many economists argue there is still room for a 25 bps repo rate cut, after the RBI reduced rates by 100 bps between February and June to 5.5%. But fund managers and currency experts warn that any such move could worsen the rupee's slide, which has fallen over 5.5% this fiscal.

On Thursday, the rupee hit a fresh low of 90.49 against the dollar before clawing back to 89.92, helped by reported RBI intervention. The currency has now weakened for six straight sessions. The rupee's performance stands out for the wrong reasons: it is currently the worst-performing Asian currency, and the third-weakest among emerging markets, behind the Argentine peso (-29.18%) and Turkish lira (-16.69%). "A repo rate cut now would invite further selling pressure on the rupee," Anil Kumar Bhansali, Finrex Treasury Advisors

'RBI intervention to rupee's swift fall'

LKP Securities' Jateen Trivedi said muted RBI intervention has contributed to the rupee's swift fall. Markets now await policy cues on whether the RBI is prepared to step in more decisively. Governor Malhotra has repeatedly stated that the RBI does not defend a particular rupee levelvolatility. He recently remarked that the currency's weakness reflects "natural market dynamics"

DBS Bank economist Radhika Rao noted that authorities appear keen to keep the currency "competitive", highlighted by the real effective exchange rate slipping below 100.

Gaura Sengupta, chief economist at IDFC First Bank, said the RBI faces a delicate trade-off between "preserving monetary policy independence and maintaining currency stability".

An Axis Mutual Fund manager said the central bank will likely stay accommodative to prevent tighter financial conditions weighing on next year's GDP. They pointed to the rising trade deficit and delay in a tariff pact with the US as key drivers of the rupee's weakness.

Currency strategists remain wary of any premature easing. Abhishek Goenka, India Forex Asset Management, said the RBI appears to be following a "soft-touch" intervention strategy, partly because it is already running large short forward positions, including in offshore NDF markets.

Gold prices to rise by 15-30% in 2026: WGC

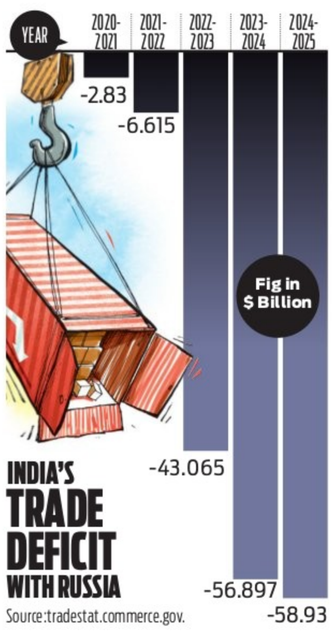
ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

GOLD prices could surge by 15-30% in 2026 if a severe, synchronised global downturn, fuelled by escalating geopolitical tensions, would intensify flight-to-safety trades, World Gold Council, a body of 30 gold mining companies, said in its latest report on Thursday. It, however, says if a renewed economic expansion forces the Fed to pause or even raise rates, higher yields and a stronger dollar could drive a 5-20% correction in gold as investors rotate into risk assets.

After a blockbuster year that saw gold soar more than 60% and repeatedly hit fresh highs, the WGC expects 2026 to be marked by heightened volatility as geopolitical and macroeconomic risks dictate market direction. Gold is currently trading around $4,200/oz.

It says even after strong investment flows — with $77 billion flowing into gold ETFs in 2025 — total holdings remain well below levels seen in previous rally phases, giving "ample room for growth".

Moscow finds 6 key export areas for India, ready to ease rules



PUSHPITA DEY @ New Delhi

RUSSIA has identified six key areas, including consumer goods, pharmaceuticals, telecom equipment where Indian exporters can sell their product in the former's market . As India Russia Business Forum began on Thursday, both the countries addressed the massive trade deficit India has with Russia, and they committed to minimise the trade imbalance, allowing more Indian exports to Russia.

Ease conditions

Meanwhile, Russian bureaucrats further said that they are willing to ease several conditions, be it in terms of payments, certifications and other aspects, to ensure Indian exporters can enter the Russian markets.

"We need to bring more diversity in our trade basket. We need to make it more balanced, inter-state Russia and India. We need to add more variety," said Union Commerce Minister Piyush Goyal during his opening remark at the Business Forum.

Trade to $100 bn

India and Russia aim to raise two-way trade to $100 billion by 2030.

He highlighted that bilateral commerce between India and Russia has been heavily skewed.

Maxim Oreshkin, Deputy Chief of Staff of the Presidential Executive Office of the Russian Federation said, "There are six key areas where India can increase their exports of goods and services to Russia such as consumer goods, food and agricultural items, generic medicines and pharmaceuticals, telecom equipment, labour resources and machine parts."

India's imports from Russia have risen nearly 12 times — from $5.48 billion in FY2020-21 to $63.81 billion in FY2024-25, according to data from the Ministry of Commerce.

However, India's exports to Russia have grown by only 84% over the same period, with Indian exporters continuing to face challenges in tapping the Russian market. India's trade deficit with Russia has gone up by more than 20 times in just five years as it went $2.8billion in 2020-21 to $58.9 billion in FY 2024-25.

'Balanced trade'

"One of the key aspects that we need to address is not that how we trade more of what we are trading today, but we also need to look at how differently we can trade to make it balanced because we can't have a balanced trade until and unless the composition of goods that we trade with each other undergoes a change and that is where we feel India has a lot to offer," said Rajesh Agrawal, Secretary, Department of Commerce.

India has faced several non-tariff barriers including more than 65 non-tariff barriers faced by its marine exports to Russia along with several other hurdles that its agricultural exports also face.

EXPANSION PLAN

ASG Eye Hosp to invest ₹2k cr to open 600 clinics by 2030

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

INDIA'S leading superspeciality eyecare chain ASG Eye Hospital has targeted to invest ₹2,000 crore to increase its footprint from 200 clinics to 600 clinics by 2030.

The hospital chain is already planning to raise ₹1,000-crore funds through IPO in the next 12-18 months.

The city-based hospital chain was founded by Dr Arun Singhvi a former MD with the AIIMS, New Delhi, 20 years ago. It is backed by private equity firms General Atlantic and Kedaara which had together put in $188 million in July 2022 and Foundation Holdings .

The hospital chain's first investor was Sequea Capital in 2013, which had invested ₹40 crore annd exited in 2019. These equity firms have 70% stakes in the chain.

The remaining 30% is held by him and has no plans to dilute further.

"Our plan is to reach every district in the country by 2030. Currently we are present in 175 full-feldged clinics in 75 cities across 24 states. By next March, we should be operating 220 clinics and by 2030 we should have 600-700 clinics or presence in all the districts," MD and CEO Dr Arun Singhvi said here on Thursday.

On the revenue side, he said they are likely to close the current fiscal with ₹1,500 crore in topline, up from ₹1,142 crore in the past fiscal.

The company which follows a partnership model with other standalone clinics or doctors, has been profitable for many years now and has a cash balance of ₹400 crore, he said.

E2W maker Ultraviolette gets $45 million funding from Zoho, Italy's Lingotto

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

ELECTRIC motorcycle maker Ultraviolette secured $45 million (nearly ₹404 crore) funding from India's Zoho Corporation, and Italy-based investment firm Lingotto as part of its ongoing Series E round, it said in a statement on Thursday.

While the investment from Zoho Corporation was led by Sridhar Vembu, Mani Vembu and Kumar Vembu, Lingotto is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Exor NV, controlled by Italy's Agnelli family.

"Lingotto's legacy of backing iconic performance and mobility brands, combined with Zoho's long-term commitment to fostering cutting-edge Indian innovation, aligns perfectly with Ultraviolette's mission to build category-defining electric mobility solutions for India and global markets," said Narayan Subramaniam, co-founder & CEO, Ultraviolette.

The Bengaluru-based company did not disclose the full size of the round or on what valuations the funds were raised. A few months back, Ultraviolette had announced raising $21 million from TDK Ventures, as part of this continuing fundraise.

The funding comes at a time when Ultraviolette is planning to launch an IPO by the FY2027-28.

This capital raised is being used to accelerate the domestic and international scale-up of current products F77 and X-47 and future product platforms Shockwave and Tesseract, said the company in a statement. Ultraviolette has expanded to 30 cities across India and has plans to be in 100 cities by mid-2026.

Fitch raises India's FY26 GDP growth estimate to 7.4% from 6.9%

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

INDIA'S strong economic momentum has prompted analysts to lift the country's GDP growth forecast for FY26. Rating agency Fitch has revised its India GDP estimate for FY26 to 7.4%, up from 6.9% projected earlier, after growth in the September quarter (Q2FY26) accelerated faster than expected.

GDP grew 8.2% year-on-year in Q2, compared to 7.8% in the previous quarter, led by resilient private consumption and improved real income levels. A sharp moderation in price pressures narrowed the gap between nominal and real GDP, with the GDP deflator rising just 0.5% from a year earlier.

Fitch in a report said that private consumption is expected to remain the main growth driver through the year, aided by improving consumer sentiment and the ongoing impact of GST reforms. it, however, anticipates some cooling in momentum in the second half of the fiscal year.

Private consumption is expected to remain the main growth driver through the year, aided by improving consumer sentiment and the ongoing impact of GST reforms

Fitch report

The agency has forecast the growth to gradually return toward trend levels over the medium term — easing to 6.4% in FY27 and further to 6.2% in FY28 — as inflation pressures trim purchasing power and public investment consolidates under a tighter fiscal stance. Fitch says in its report that private investment is likely to pick up in the latter half of FY27 as financial conditions loosen. Net trade is expected to contribute modestly to growth as import demand normalises after a strong rebound in FY26.

Inflation hit a record low of 0.3% in October, thanks to a 3.7% year-on-year drop in food and beverage prices on the back of good monsoon rainfall and adequate stock levels. Core inflation remains above 4%, driven partly by high gold and silver prices. Base effects are expected to push headline inflation back above the RBI's target by end-2026.

With inflation softening and activity staying firm, Fitch expects the Reserve Bank of India to deliver one final policy rate cut in December, taking the repo rate to 5.25%, following 100 basis points of easing this year and a reduction in the cash reserve ratio to 3%.

Syrma aims to make 2.1 mn sq mt of PCB as AP plant starts construction

SANAL SUDEVAN @ Chennai

SYRMA SGS Technology Ltd, an electronic manufacturing services (EMS) company, has commenced construction of its printed circuit board (PCB) manufacturing facility at Naidupeta in Andhra Pradesh.

The facility, being set up through its subsidiary Syrma Strategic Electronics Pvt Ltd at the Naidupeta Industrial Zone, is part of a ₹700-crore investment for which the company has secured a 50% capital subsidy from the state government. Syrma plans to initially manufacture 7.2 lakh sq mt of multilayer PCBs and 4.8 lakh sq mt of single-layer PCBs annually. At full operational capacity, the plant will be able to produce up to 2.1 million sq mt of multilayer PCBs. Trial production is expected by December 2026, with commercial production scheduled to begin in April 2027. Civil construction is targeted for completion by June 2026, after which machinery installations will begin from July 2026. It currently operates two other facilities — a PCB assembly plant in Pune and a laptop assembly unit at the Tambaram SEZ in Chennai.

To build skilled capabilities, Syrma will begin sending employees to South Korea and China for three-to-four-week training stints in semiconductor manufacturing and machine operations. Employees will be trained in batches of four to five, with semiconductor training provided by its South Korean partner Shinhyup Electronics, which entered into a strategic joint venture with Syrma in September.

SMT Line at Syrma SGS Chennai facility | SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT

"We are in discussions with companies in industrial electronics, automotive, energy metering and other sectors," said Jasbir Singh Gujral, Managing Director, Syrma SGS. He said India's semiconductor ecosystem is moving toward backward integration — starting with PCB and motherboard manufacturing, with localisation of raw materials planned in the next phase.

While raw materials for PCBs and semiconductors will continue to be imported for now, domestic PCB supply is expected to grow significantly over the next two years. "We will start with copper-clad laminate (CCL) and high-density interconnect (HDI) PCBs two to three years after commercial production of multi-layer PCBs begins in 2027," he added.

The global PCB market is valued at about $5 billion, with India accounting for ₹40,000-45,000 crore of demand. Nearly 90% of this is imported. The Indian PCB market is projected to expand to ₹70,000 crore by 2030, while domestic supply is expected to rise to ₹15,000-20,000 crore. "Cumulative investment capacity is around ₹7,000-10,000 crore. With an asset turnover ratio of 1-1.25 times, once the new plants become fully operational, India's PCB production should reach ₹15,000–20,000 crore — around 30% of domestic demand," he said.

Kalikesh begins first full term as NRAI chief

Kalikesh Narayan Singh Deo began his first full four-year term as president of the National Rifle Association of India (NRAI) after he was elected unopposed during its general body meeting here on Thursday. Pawan Singh was elected as the new secretary general as results of the sports body's elections were officially declared.

Selection, bad timing, NADA presence behind mess

KIUG supposed to be for last academic session students; athletics, wrestling & weightlifting most affected because of doping history; other sports also affected

LIKE one national sports federation official puts it quite succinctly: It was like there were 20 officials for one competitor. The Khelo India University Games in Rajasthan is turning out to be an embarrassment for all stakeholders. As reported by this newspaper on Tuesday there were at least two athletics, one each in weightlifting and wrestling events where there was only one competitor.

The KIUG, held under the aegis of the Sports Authority of India, is a flagship programme of the sports ministry. This time it is being held in Jaipur in collaboration with state sports council. The National Sports Federations provide technical support. Even on Wednesday, there were events in athletics where two or three athletes competed. This trend is not restricted to just athletics, wrestling and weightlifting. In fact other sports like swimming, kayaking and canoeing faced the same problem.

Each of the events had its own issues. The selection of athletes is done by the Association of India Universities (AIU) and its sports board. The NSFs provide officials for technical conduct of the Khelo India University Games. What makes it even more intriguing is that most of the NSFs where there have been low turnouts don't even recognize AIU sports. In inter-varsity events, technical conduct is not done by most NSFs either. Take for example, Athletics Federation of India, swimming federation, wrestling federation do not send their technical officials to conduct the inter-university competitions.

Late hosting

After speaking with a handful of officials across sports and organizations, it can be safely surmised that the malaise runs deeper. One SAI official pointed out that there were more than one reasons for low turnout. According to one official, selection is done by the AIU (and its sports board) with top eight given the spots in individual disciplines and is based on their all India inter-varsity results. And the cut off for this year's KIUG was last academic year. The hosting of KIUG in November-December led to more complication. This KIUG was supposed to be held for students of previous academic year. Timing has always been the biggest problem for both KIUG and Khelo India Youth Games. Take for instance the first KIUG was conducted in February-March, the next one in April-May, another in May-June. And November-December is usually considered end of the season in most sports. There is no fixed date or month in which the KIUG is hosted. There have been instances when vacant spots were filled (first KIUG). AIU had formed criteria where host University gets the first preference and co-host the second.

Add to this the athletes who have qualified. According to SAI, top eight are selected based on their rankings in their respective events. Some of them would have graduated or moved to some other university after completing their final academic session. Some of them would have got jobs and would have been here without 'bonafide certificate' and not eligible to compete. In case an athlete has left the college and is working then he or she is not allowed to compete. Perhaps AIU should have been diligent enough to check whether all eight players were available. Even SAI should have cross-checked this. Interestingly, the AIU itself was in trouble after the World University Games. The sports ministry had reportedly said that they would disband the AIU back in July.

No anti-doping in AIU?

The low turnout in athletics, weightlifting and wrestling — three sports with the worst doping record in the country — can be attributed to presence of National Anti-Doping Agency's Dope Control Officials (DCOs). According to an official, the AIU doesn't follow anti-doping rules and do not involve NADA for sample collections as strictly as NSFs. The AIU's sports division itself is in trouble. A new director has been made in charge. A September circular on calendar said that a copy of the competitions both zonal and all India inter-university tournaments has been shared with NADA. "This calendar has already been communicated to the National Anti-Doping Agency (NADA) for planning dope testing at Inter University Tournaments," said the circular published on AIU website. According to former AIU officials since last year they are getting more serious. The number of students is huge and could be a daunting task for NADA as well.

When it comes to the conduct of the all India inter-university Games, the AIU too is under the scanner. According to multiple NSFs, they do not send technical officials to conduct the inter-university competitions. The September circular this time says the AIU is planning to organize events with the help of NSFs. But whether it will be implemented needs to be seen.

Category mess in lifting

New weight categories were introduced by the International Weightlifting Federation this season. The revised categories are eight, but the weightlifting competitions in inter-varsity competitions were held in 10 different weight categories.

High no starts, scanty turnout in athletics leave poor taste at KIUG

INDRANEEL DAS @Chennai

KHELO India University Games (KIUG) is turning out to be a mockery in athletics and weightlifting. In the two of the four days of athletics so far, there were at least a couple of events in which just one player participated. Given this low turnout, there is something serious about a programme the Sports Authority of India (SAI) and the sports ministry started as their flagship programme for encouraging participation of youth.

The latest edition of KIUG, which is being conducted across seven cities in Rajasthan, is on when most of the sports go into off-season. Athletics is one such sport that is already in off-season mode. The healthy presence of National Anti-Doping Agency officials has compounded matters. Athletics is one of the most tainted sports followed by weightlifting. Going by the result sheets published online, athletes participating in both disciplines have gone incognito after entering names.

Not just Khelo India University Games, but the KIUG had come under scrutiny. Most of the time, it's held in January or January-February, just before the public exams of both 10th and 12th. At the same time, it is too early for athletes to compete as they begin their training around that time. On top of that, the certificates carry a lot value for a student.

Sporting bib number 478, Rochit Mori sprinted across the track with plenty of purpose at the Sawai Mansingh Stadium in Jaipur on Tuesday. He was the only athlete competing in the men's 400m hurdles finals. Mori was not alone. In the women's 400m final, Manisha was the lone runner. There were four DNS (did not start). Similarly, in the men's 400m, Raj of Madurai Kamraj University (TN) stopped the clock at 47.48s to capture gold ahead of Abimanyu P (Annamalai University, TN), who won silver with a timing of 48.94s. As many as six athletes had DNS.

Keerthana (C) won the 100m gold

It was the same story in both the men's and women's 5000m final with just two finalists each in the line-up. Hammer throw event had three finalists in the line-up. In the women's hammer throw, there were three participants and three DNS. In the women's 100m, it was the same figure. In pole 4.50m while there were three no marks and two were disqualified.

Udupi-born Keerthana was the one of the athletes who grabbed eyeballs after clocking 11.94 seconds in the women's 100m final. The second-year Master of Commerce student of Jain University, Karnataka finished ahead of Teena Pareek, who clocked 12.18s. Samriti Jamwal bagged bronze with an effort of 12.21s. Only three were part of this event too with three others listed as DNS. Laukik Meiye was the top finisher in a Weightlifting is another sport that has seen slim participation and a host of DNSs. In the 65kg men's final, there was only one entry and medallist. Same was the case in 75kg men's. In the majority of men's finals, there were only three competitors. Wrestling is another event that has not attracted many wrestlers and went under-represented.

Contrast this with shooting. Some of the top shooters like Sift Kaur Samra competed at the event and participation was healthier than most events.

Rishabh and middle-order conundrum for hosts India

GOMESH S @Chennai

THREE FIVE EIGHT. That's a lot of runs across 50-overs. When India posted it batting first, they may have thought they were in a good place. Because South Africa needed a record to chase it down. A day removed from that record chase, attention has invariably turned towards India's squad construction.

It may be a case of hindsight but in an era when teams have tried to maximise power-hitting in the lower middle-order to set above par scores, especially on batting decks, there's a growing theory that India may be shortchanging themselves by picking both Washington Sundar and Ravindra Jadeja in the same team. They are both fine operators but they do not provide the kick needed in the last five-10 overs, that thrust.

Twice in as many games, the lack of that thrust meant the team just about made par after seemingly set for a score in excess of 370. It didn't matter in the first ODI when Washington made a 19-ball 13 (Jadeja scored 32 off 20). In the second ODI on Wednesday, the duo combined for 25 off 35, all of those balls consumed post the 39th over.

Which is why it is not an understatement to say that they were probably 25-30 runs shy off an above-par total. It is a concern the head coach would want to address soon. Before getting into the nitty-gritty, Hardik Pandya will walk into the XI in a full-strength team. When that happens, one of Jadeja or Sundar will not play. But for the time being, the leadership group wants a spin-bowling all-rounder in the top five. While there is merit to having a spin-bowling all-rounder (in this case Washington) in the top five, it becomes an issue when combined with KL Rahul and Jadeja in the middle-order. To put into context, Jadeja strikes at 117.3 in the last ten overs of ODIs since 2020. In this phase and period, Rahul averages 46.7 and strikes at 149. In 19 innings, Washington averages 20.27 and strikes at 82.02 in death overs.

What about Pant

Which brings focus on Rishabh Pant. Post Pant's injury, Rahul has made the middle-order spot his own. In his limited career, Pant strikes at 180.1 and averages 28.6 during the last 10 overs.In Visakhapatnam, India have a chance to use him as keeper-batter.

CHANDRA PRABHU @Chennai

IN a sport where 'left is apparently not right', Matthew Hughson of England may well be continuing the trend of left-handed hockey players from the country after midfielder Ashley Jackson retired in 2021.

Hughson has been a rock at the back for England in the ongoing FIH Hockey Men's Junior World Cup campaign. Apart from the 3-5 defeat to the Netherlands in the pool stage, which eventually cost them a place in the quarterfinals, the 21-year-old has been part of the defence that would concede only two goals in their next two pool games (13-0 vs Austria, 3-1 vs Malaysia). On Thursday, the defender helped maintain that defensive authority in their 3-1 win against Chile in the 9-16 quarterfinals here at the Mayor Radhakrishnan Stadium.

The left-handed player grew up playing multiple sports in Surrey, in the South of England. His parents Jo and Eric Hughson, who were amongst the handful of English supporters in the pavilion, explained how their son initially played multiple sports. "He played cricket and golf with his right hand, and tennis with his left hand," Jo, the mother, told this daily.

But the sport of hockey had captured his imagination, according to the parents. "He played hockey in school (in Scotland) amongst other sports like rugby and cricket, but hockey was his passion. He has gone from school to club and then the country," said Eric, Matthew's father.

Playing sports which involved using both hands has made it easy for Matthew to play hockey with his right hand "Playing them definitely helped. Getting your hand-eye coordination right helped with moving across," he said after England's win.

His position in the current team as a defender demands him to defend as well as contribute to the attack. His left handedness, he says, helps him with making "punching passes." "I think it is a bit of physics, like, top of the stick — stronger lever. This helps me with the punching passes," he added.

'Rules are fine'

The International Hockey Federation (FIH) effectively prohibits left-handed sticks by requiring that the playing side of the stick must be on the left of the player. This makes all the players, right handed players. This could be in force in a bid to maintain uniformity.

Hughson felt that uniformity should remain. "I think It would be so confusing to defend (if left-handed sticks are introduced). If some people would carry on one side and others on the other side, It'd just be tough work, wouldn't it?," he explained.

Presently, Hughson is a third year student at Durham University and plays for the Surbiton Hockey Club based in Surrey. He is touted as one of the burgeoning talents back home, and would be keen to emulate someone like Jackson, one of the country's leading goal scorers.

Hughson recalled the time where he played against Jackson in a club-level match. "I have not got the opportunity to talk to him but as our coach Barry Middleton (of Surbiton) said, there are loads of good players who are left-handed. You can use it as an advantage," he explained.

Belgium challenge for home team

CHENNAI: The hosts, who have impressed with their brand of hockey, face Belgium for a place in the last four. The PR Sreejesh-coached team, yet to concede a single goal, went to Madurai and came back with a neat 5-0 win to round out their pool obligations but the business end of the tournament starts now. They will fancy themselves against Belgium, a vastly inexperienced side, whose juniors don't play as often as a group. The tourists also lost a game in the group stage before relying on goal difference to make it through. In fact, the last time the junior World Cup was held in India, these two sides faced each other in the quarterfinals, with India prevailing 1-0. India's forwards have been on song even though penalty corner conversions have remained a worry but this is now a global trend. "Definitely, there are areas to improve," Sreejesh said after the final group game against Switzerland. "From the next match onwards, the real tournament is starting and it is really important for us to focus on those areas. "The amount of times we are entering the circle, we need to convert them into PCs or goals or shots. And we need to tighten our defence too, we are conceding some unwanted PCs. It is really important for us to focus on the defensive structure more and allow the forwards to go up and attack."

Indian Pickleball League: Chennai seal playoffs spot

ENS/AGENCIES @New Delhi

WITH a perfect record after four games, Chennai Super Warriors became the first team to confirm a playoff spot in the Indian Pickleball League — which is sanctioned by the Indian Pickleball Association under the Ministry of Youth Affairs & Sports. Chennai beat Bengaluru Blasters 4-2, after Lucknow Leopards and Capital Warriors Gurgaon had earlier played out a 3-3 draw.

Bengaluru, fresh off their maiden win a day earlier, ran into unbeaten Chennai in the second tie of the day. Phuc Huynh gave Bengaluru the ideal launch, outlasting Aman Patel 15–13 in men's singles. Chennai steadied through Mitchell Hargreaves and Harsh Mehta, who edged Huynh and Arjun Singh 15–12 after a gritty, point-for-point kitchen-line battle.

From there on, Roos van Reek took charge once again, racing to a 10–5 lead before closing out a commanding 15–5 win — her fourth straight in the league — over Pei Chuan Kao. Bengaluru snapped Chennai's unbeaten women's doubles run with a crisp 15–8 victory, levelling the tie again at 2-2. Chennai, however, were in no mood to let their perfect record slip. They burst ahead in the Grand Rally and closed out a dominant 21–10 finish to seal their fourth straight tie, 4–2. Mehta and Van Reek claimed the Players of the Tie honours.

Chennai lead with 12 points after four straight wins. Hyderabad are second while Lucknow occupy the third spot. Gurgaon, Bengaluru are fourth and fifth, respectively.

Root, Starc share honours on Day 1

AFP @ Brisbane

JOE Root finally scored his maiden Test century in Australia on his fourth Ashes tour to guide England from a precarious 5-2 to 325-9 at stumps after a pulsating first day of the second Ashes Test in Brisbane on Thursday.

Mitchell Starc became the most successful left-arm fast bowler in history as he claimed 6-71, but the opening sessions of the day-night contest were dominated by Root, who scored a masterful 135 not out.

Number 11 Jofra Archer thrilled the travelling army of fans as he smashed a career-best unbeaten 32 off 26 balls with two sixes to provide some late fireworks.

His unbroken 10th-wicket partnership of 61 with Root was a record for England at the Gabba. The world's top-ranked batsman, Root had failed to reach triple figures on three previous Ashes tours. But the man who is second on the all-time run-scoring list behind only Sachin Tendulkar silenced the critics who said he couldn't be considered a true batting great until he had made a century in Australia.

"Unbelievable day for Joe. He has had that coming for a long time. I'm chuffed for him," said Zak Crawley, who made 76 and shared a 117-run stand for the third wicket with Root.

Coming to the crease in the third over at 5-2 with Starc swinging the new pink ball, he embarked on an epic knock, bringing up his century with a leg glance to the fine leg boundary off Scott Boland.

Why Sanchar Saathi is in the eye of storm

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

LAST week, a surprise directive from the Department of Telecommunications (DoT) to pre-install the government's Sanchar Saathi App on all smartphones sold in India created a huge uproar. Mobile manufacturers such as Apple, Samsung, Xiaomi, and others were instructed to install this cybersecurity app on all new devices. Companies were given 90 days to comply, and the order specified that users should not be able to remove or disable the app.

While the government called it a cybersecurity app, the Opposition criticised it as a surveillance tool. Later, Telecom Minister Jyotiraditya Scindia clarified that the app would not be mandatory and users can delete it anytime.

According to the government, the app has been proved to be effective in fighting mobile-related crimes. With over 1.2 billion mobile users in India, issues ranging from mobile fraud to impersonation to phone theft are common. Official figures show that the app has helped recover over 7 lakh stolen phones, of which 50,000 were recovered in October alone.

This has raised questions about what the Sanchar Saathi app is and why the government wanted it pre-installed on all devices.

What is the app for?

According to the DoT portal, Sanchar Saathi is a citizen-centric initiative aimed at empowering mobile subscribers, improving their security, and raising awareness about government initiatives. The app is available for download on smartphones and also as a web portal at www.sancharsaathi.gov.in. It offers a variety of services to keep users informed and secure.

Major features

Chakshu: The Chakshu feature lets users report suspicious communications that could be related to fraud, cybercrime, financial scams, or impersonation. This includes calls, SMS, or WhatsApp messages that appear to be from official sources such as DoT, TRAI, or the police. It's important to note that Chakshu is not for reporting financial frauds or cybercrimes; for those, users should contact the cybercrime helpline at 1930 or visit cybercrime.gov.in.

Block Lost/Stolen Phones: Users can block their lost or stolen mobile phones through the app by filling out a form on the website. The handset will be blocked from the Indian telecom network within 24 hours.

Once the phone is traceable, users will receive an SMS with the report. This traceability report is also shared with local police for recovery.

Track Your Mobile Connections: The app helps users track how many mobile connections are registered under their name. An individual can have up to 9 connections across all telecom providers, and 6 connections in J&K, Assam, and North East India.

This feature also helps identify SIM cards issued in the user's name without their knowledge and allows users to check if their phone's IMEI is genuine, which is useful when buying second-hand phones.
